REBELS TURN SIXTEEN: COULDN'T BE PROUDER

Sixteen! How proud an individual is when he reaches that magic age when all things seem possible!

Sixteen! How proud Rebels were in that year when they became sixteen, that magic age when all things seemed possible!

1951-1967! It did not seem that so much could have been done in so few years. Beginning with a student body of approximately 350 and with 18 teachers, great strides have been made.

In 1967, the student body had reached 1375 in number, and the faculty numbered about 65. Many changes had been made, and more were contemplated. A gym was the first addition to the original physical plant of three buildings. Then two more wings of classrooms were built, one housing a larger library and cafeteria. Another wing depended on the passage of a bond issue.

Curriculum had grown to keep pace with the times. Alumni had distinguished themselves on college campuses and in their life's work. Members of the present student body won awards and brought honor to the school and to themselves.

As it had been in 1951, when the doors first opened to receive students and faculty, so it was in 1967. There was still work to be done, improvements to be made, and goals to be reached.

Yes, Rebels had turned sixteen, proud of their heritage, but with their eyes and minds toward the future and greater accomplishments.

Through the doors of North Mecklenburg High School had passed many students. Each group filled a need; nevertheless, there came a new group each year to fill the void left by the graduates.

Superintendent of Mecklenburg County Schools, Mr. J. W. Wilson, was a great factor in making the idea of a consolidated secondary high school system a reality.

North Mecklenburg's first principal was Mr. Marion W. Bird. Under his guidance, North students were soon organized; and the school was moving along as if it had been years old.

STUDENTS, FACULTY COOPERATE; MAKE SCHOOL SUCCESS

Members of the local board of committeemen in 1955 were Mr. Dewitt Bradford, Mr. J. W. Mitzel, Mr. Ben Washam, Mr. Sam Wilson, and Dr. J. W. Reid. Mr. Bradford and Dr. Reid had served since North's opening.

Adviser to North's first Viking staff was Mrs. Ruth Barfield. For her, 1967 marked her sixteenth year in that same capacity.

In 1955, physical education was offered to both boys and girls. Miss Peggy Cline (Mrs. Joe Hunt) was the girls' first director.

VARIED ACTIVITIES PROVIDE RICH BACKGROUND FOR STUDENT EXPERIENCE

Parents supported the school throughout the years. Through the PTA they worked to make North a better school.

Famous personages have been the guests of North. After the third symposium, Sandra Wheaton and Kitty Beard talked with Frances Gray Patton, author Good Morning, Miss Dove.

Always evident were the school buses. They transported students to and from school each day with an outstanding safety record. Although students sometimes complained, generally they enjoyed the ride with friends.

Exchange students were a part of North's program. The school has been enriched by students from Germany, Sweden, Argentina, France, and Finland, among others. "Tepu" came to us from Finland.

SENIORS SET TRADITIONS; SECOND PRINCIPAL COMES; FACULTY CHANG

Seniors in 1951 set the tradition of having underclassmen stand as the seniors marched into assembly. Since that time, sophomores and juniors complain loudly when they have to stand, but it has been different when they became seniors. Having the underclassmen stand as seniors march in is one of the most jealously guarded privileges.

After North had completed its fourth year, Mr. W. A. Hough came as principal. In the years following, students realized his worth to the school. One of the senior classes honored him by presenting his portrait to the school, where it still hangs in the foyer. The artist was Dayrell Korthauer.

Teachers came and went throughout the years. Their reasons for leaving were numerous. Three retired during these years; some moved to other places or gave up teaching altogether. Miss Patsy Harmon became Mrs. Dennis Troutman while she was at North. After a few years she resigned to take care of her own child.

Near the close of basketball season, the Civinettes honored the parents of the varsity basketball players. Parents were presented to the spectators, small trophies given to the fathers, and a small corsage given each mother. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dickinson proudly received their mementos from Gail Alexander as they were introduced.

For students who dared not wear the school colors on "Blue-White Day," a kangaroo court was held and punishment and fines meted out. Defendants Kent Hefner, David Brannen, and Ken Ballard were brought to justice by Judge Jerry Cranford.

Excitement ran rampant when there were even a few flakes of snow falling. Students anticipated leaving school early and having a holiday, or two, if enough snow fell and if it stuck to the ground. Here the snow was beginning to cover the cars as some students were leaving early.

Many of the Rebels were talented in one way or another, and several singing groups met and practiced earnestly. They helped furnish entertainment at many school functions. At the Spanish banquet, Larry Greene and Jim Brown helped entertain the guests.

REBELS, OLD AND NEW, NOTE PROGR

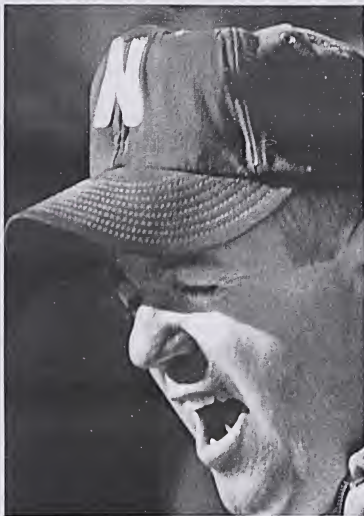

Four members of the present faculty were on hand the day North opened its doors in 1951. They have been on the staff at North for the sixteen years. They were Mrs. Mary Alice Miller, Mrs. Ruth Barfield, Mr. Orland Gabriel, and Mr. William Cochran.

Last spring when big equipment moved onto the back campus and began to move dirt around, there was a feeling of excitement and joy. At last North was to have a stadium. All during the summer, the work progressed. In February, the stadium was a mass of mud and nothing more; however, hopes were high that it would be completed in time to use in the fall.

In accordance with federal laws, North was integrated in 1966. This year the entire student body of Torrence-Lytle High School was combined with North. For the first time the faculty was also integrated. Mr. I. T. Graham came as assistant principal.

Winning the state 4-A baseball championship was a thrilling experience, but it took much work and encouragement to do so. With the games split, that last one was a crucial one. Coach Bill Ross was intent on "seeing" that his team kept up their spirits and won the game.

STAFF DEDICATES VIKING; RECOGNIZES COACH FOR SERVICE TO NORTH

Teacher of world history and physical education, Mr. Donald M. Haynes sponsored the Monogram Club and coached the football and golf teams.

There are people in every walk of life who make things better just because they have passed that way. North is fortunate to have a person like this, one who is loyal, cheerful, devoted, and helpful. Giving freely of his time, he is a friend both to students and teachers. As he has dedicated himself to North and the betterment of the students, so we dedicate this, the 1967 Viking, to Mr. Mack Haynes.

Assuming a familiar pose, Mr. Mack Haynes talked to the student body during pep rallies before each of the football games.

During the student-faculty game Mr. Haynes was intent on winning. When the referee (Mr. Joe White, who taught at North last year) made a bad call, Mr. Haynes was right on the court with him. The result was a technical foul on the faculty.

Attending the Junior-Senior Prom, Mr. Haynes enjoyed watching the students and had fun with them. Mr. J. T. McCaslin was with him.

ACTIVITIES HELP DEVELOP STUDENTS, SCHOOL

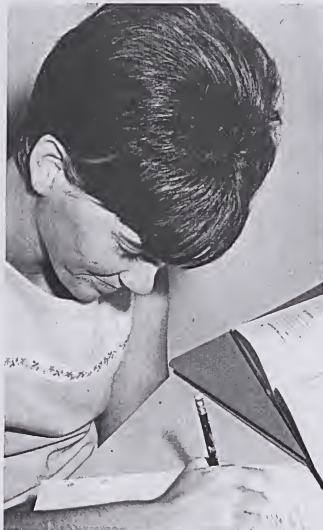

Although school emphasis is centered on academic work, student organizations gave Rebels a chance to explore their own capacities as well as serve the school. For sixteen years, North has had an endless procession of outstanding student body presidents, athletes, beauty queens, cheerleaders, and other who served the school through work in the various activities offered. It was the spirit of Rebels to give the best they had in all endeavors that made North the kind of school it is today.

Spirits were high during the last critical minutes of the ball game with Garinger.

Voting for class officers, as well as for other officers, was a privilege of all students. Debbie Wally exercised her privilege to vote in her first class election since she had come to North.

10

THOSE WHO SERVE MOST PROFIT MOST

Students were able to purchase tickets prior to the games and save money as well as time. Marilyn Cooke took advantage of this as she purchased her ticket from Mr. Hurd during lunch time.

A typical scene was one at the telephone booth during lunch periods, where sometimes, the wait was a long one. Randle Montgomery and Joe Stinson patiently awaited their turn as Lynn Lessard carried on her telephone conversation.

Activities of the school are ever changing to meet the desires and needs of the school. One of the new clubs formed this year, because of the interest of students, was the Chess Club. Members favoring this game of skill were: (FRONT ROW): Bobby Small, Steve Honeycutt, Tommy Youngblood. (ROW TWO): George Harry, Rodney Knox. (ROW THREE): Jeff Caldwell, Alan White. (BACK ROW): David Gibson, Joe Cooke, and Robert Hunter.

Each Christmas the Student Council tried to help those who need food and clothing. This year after the canned foods and other things were collected, Truscott Rhodes and Gale Alexander packed them in boxes and sent them to the Salvation Army for distribution.

To recognize the accomplishments of students, the Student Council awards a certificate to an outstanding student each month. Glenn Morris received the Student-of-the-Month award for his outstanding accomplishments in football.

Reverend John Handley was invited by the Student Council to speak to the student body during Youth Appreciation Week. He told them that youth of today had everything going for them and they could be what they wanted to be.

Students enjoyed the social life of the school. Several occasions offered them the opportunity to dress up and put on their very best manners and enjoy the companionship of others. Serving Doug McElroy at a school reception was Faye Ferrell.

Fun was to be had at other times, too. Mr. C. S. Smith, an amateur magician, surprised Sandy Raborn as she appeared on the stage during the beauty contest. Out of the thin air came a bunch of flowers not more than a foot away from her face.

Some students had a vital interest in safe driving and joined with students from other schools in promoting a safety campaign. Barbara Presnell was one of these students. She invited Kays Gary, a Charlotte Observer columnist, to speak to the entire student body.

Happiness was winning ball games, too. A successful basketball season had been a long time coming, and victory was sweet. After North's victory over Garinger, Chris Parnell was given a ride by Jim Brown, Lyn Murphy, and other teammates. It seemed as if he were not too confident about staying on top, however.

ORGANIZATIONS REMAIN IMPORTANT

Clubs and student organizations have grown with North in the past sixteen years, serving to add to the scholastic life of the school. They have increased in size and importance so that they make up an integral part of daily life. These extra-curricular activities were begun by students who wanted to work for the betterment of the school, the community and themselves. Covering a broad spectrum of interests, there were clubs for service, for special talents, and for vocational interests.

STUDENT COUNCIL HOLDS LEADERSHIP, PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE CLASSES

Membership of the Student Council consisted of its officers, presidents of homerooms, class officers, committee chairmen, and editors of publications.

They met twice a month and discussed school regulations and by-laws. They debated student-body suggestions and projects. To help strengthen the honor system, they formed a new committee.

An appropriate theme selected for the Student Council seal was "The highest of distinction is service to others."

As a service project, the Student Council collected canned foods which were assembled under the Christmas tree in the student lounge. Later, the food was distributed by the Salvation Army.

Led by Mr. Orland Gabriel, a parliamentary procedure class was held. Also sponsored was a leadership training class. This was open to the entire student body. Mr. Jim Beatty was the keynote speaker.

Once every month, the Student Council gives an award to the club that is voted the most outstanding for that month. Elaine Tweed received the Club-of-the-Month Award for the Future Homemakers.

Deno Economou, past student body president at Garinger, was the guest speaker at the leadership training class sponsored by the Student Council before Christmas.

Planning the Homecoming dance was the most important job of the Social Committee. Decorations were made to carry out the theme, "Bali-Hai". Members of the Social Committee were: (FRONT ROW): Marilyn Ferris, Kitty Jones, Barbara Park. (ROW TWO): Cindy Grayson, Kristi Wagner, chairman. (ROW THREE): Teresa Barnes. (ROW FOUR): Emilie Garmon, Jeanie McDonald, Becky Brown. (ROW FIVE): Jack Hendricks, Phil Puckett, and Shaw Smith.

Seeing that Student Council events were publicized thoroughly meant poster making for the Publicity Committee, composed of Kathy Jones, Katie Coley, Linda Dease, and Brenda Baker, chairman.

COMMITTEES FACILITATE STUDENT COUNCIL WORK, SERVE STUDENTS WELL

Planning for adequate parking space, making suggestions for improving and beautifying the school, and seeing that announcements were made over the intercom were some of the duties of the House and Grounds Committee. Members were Larry Greene, Mike Nix, Alan Kelly, chairman; Joey McConnell, Mike Wilborn, and Tommy Maxwell.

Sandra Chitwood, David Thomas, chairman; Lloyd Murray. (STANDING) Gail Baucum; and Susan Davis kept an accurate history of the events at North. These members of the Scrapbook Committee were kept busy clipping newspaper notices, filing programs of events, and planning layouts to make an attractive scrapbook.

Scheduling devotions was the duty of the Devotions Committee. They sometimes had to pinch hit for absent students and see that devotions were planned for assemblies. Members of the committee were Elaine Tweed; Pam Burgess; Barbara Sherrill, chairman; and Karen McAuley.

Glenn Morris; Wayne Caldwell, chairman; and Dianne Banker were members of the Assembly Committee. They were responsible for setting up equipment for programs, scheduling speakers, and printing a monthly calendar of events.

Duties of the Hospitality Committee were varied. They welcomed students entering North, gathered food for the Salvation

Army, and placed a Christmas tree in the student lounge before the holidays. Members were Janet Cox, Vickie McConnell, Kitty Jones, Julia Nance, Bruce McKeown, Libby Sparks, and Karen Ashford, chairman.

INTERCLUB COUNCIL FUND RAISING PROJECT PROVIDES FUN, RECREATION

Serving as chairman of the Interclub Council, Tommy Plott directed a committee composed of the presidents of the school organizations. This group worked to achieve harmony and cooperation among students interested in North's clubs. They discussed solutions to problems and ideas for producing smoother, more efficient programs for the organizations involved.

To raise money for the foreign exchange student program, the Interclub Council sponsored a carnival in April. This was open to all students and aimed to provide fun and recreation for a worthy cause. Each club had an exhibit for the carnival. To end the night of festivity, a sock hop was held in the school gymnasium.

Some people will do anything for money, and the money raised at this booth along with the rest of the carnival funds was used for a good cause. Mike Jaynes, Terry Harpe, Marilyn Ferris, and Eddie Booker were unexpectedly thrown in the tank when Eddie White released the pin.

DAVIDSON STUDENT DISCUSSES HONOR, STRESSES RESPONSIBLE LIVING

Trying to instill in the students a sense of honor and a sense of responsible living was the purpose of the Honor Council. Members of the council were elected by the student body.

This year, when new members were inducted into the Honor Council, Barry St Claire, a student at Davidson College, was guest speaker. He expressed the effectiveness of the honor system at Davidson.

In its dealing with offenders to the Honor Code, the Honor Council held secret meetings with no connection to the faculty. These offenders were dealt with in complete secrecy.

Sims; Sally Walker; Debbie McCord; Gary Ervin; Curtis Smith; Judy Kelly; Mary Ann Goss; Ping Voss, honorary member. (ROW THREE): Joey McConnell, vice-president; Nancy Cochrane; Kenny Saunders; Martha Johnston; Fenna Boon, secretary; Karen

Brown; Kathy Burgess; Bill Strong; Alice Ratliff. (ROW FOUR): Eddie Ferrell; Tommy Dickinson, chaplain; Tommy Plott; Truscott Rhodes; John McFarland; Flynn Brantley; Joe Henderson; and Bill Dotger.

DR. BURTS SPEAKER AT INDUCTION CEREMONY OF HONOR SOCIETY

Stressing leadership, scholarship, service and character, the National Honor Society tapped twenty-five new members in the fall of 1966. Dr. Richard Burts was the guest speaker at the induction ceremony.

This year the Honor Society sponsored a culture bulletin board, read the thought for the week over the intercom, and gave a fifty-dollar scholarship to a deserving senior. Money for this scholarship was earned at the Hi-Jinks program.

Early in the year, members gathered books to be distributed at a mission school. They also collected Christmas cards to be sent to Indonesia and gave fruit baskets to needy families.

Lighting the candle representing character was Janette Davis. Flame from the light of knowledge served to light the candle.

Leading the procession of older members was Dr. Richard Burts, principal speaker at the induction ceremony and Steve White, president of the National Honor Society.

"Chief Powder Can," Mr. William Cochran, was not pleased at the news that his daughter, "Pokey Huntus," wanted to marry John.

"Pokey" was a coy young lady. Played by Mrs. Estelle Mott, she was adamant about marrying John. "Holy Father," Mr. W. A. Hough, had just tied the knot.

SPECTATORS ENJOY HI-JINKS; NHS EARNs MONE

Hi-Jinks, sponsored by the National Honor Society, provided a night of entertainment. Members of the Honor Society and the faculty presented skits and talent acts.

Time turned back as teachers presented a skit depicting the story of Pokey-Huntus and John Smith. Mr. Hough, the "Holy Father," watched over the scene; and Mr. Therrell, the Curtain, was "drawn across the stage."

Physical education students presented a modern dance, "Rocks and Gravel," as well as acts on the trampoline.

From the proceeds, a fifty-dollar scholarship was awarded by the Honor Society to Judy MacKay, one of its members.

School was never like this! Miss Lawhon, Miss Johnston, "Daddy—O" Davis, and Miss Nichols gave teacher, Mr. Black, a hard time.

"We're glad to see you here," never seemed to be a warmer greeting than it was at the Hi-Jinks. Miss Wilson and Mrs. McFarland gave their welcome to the crowd.

NEW MATHEMATICS INTERESTS CLUB; HI-PI'S PLAN FOR CHARTER

Meeting every other Wednesday, the Math Club listened to guest speakers, discussed in depth what they had learned in class, and learned about newer phases of mathematics.

Programs concerning new math concepts and classes for the National Math Exam were sponsored by the group. Meetings were open to visitors.

The Hi-Pi Club began completing final steps to becoming an official club by submitting a constitution to the Student Council.

Programs for the meetings were presented by small groups and included such things as puzzles, cryptography, topology, and other geometries.

RED CROSS, JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT MEMBERS LEARN BY SERVING, WORK

North's Red Cross participated in the activities of the county organization. Projects included collecting money to buy school supplies to send to foreign countries and writing letters and cards to American soldiers in Viet Nam.

Representatives volunteered from each homeroom to form the club. They were responsible for informing their homeroom membership of the activities of the Red Cross and for encouraging student participation.

To inform the students about Junior Achievement, Mr. Calvin Hunt, of the JA board, presented a film and talked to the student body. Membership was open to any student interested in free enterprise.

Students set up their own companies and operated them. The company's success depended on the initiative and work of the students involved. Once a month a meeting was held at which guest speakers discussed business and free enterprise.

The future of FREE ENTERPRISE is up to us... and

Mr. Richard F. Froesch, vice-chairman of the Schools and Achievers Committee of Junior Achievement, spoke during the JA assembly. He stressed the need for leadership and the need for accepting responsibility. He said, "Work is the only means by which we achieve."

Bradford, David Henderson, Larry Greene, treasurer. (BACK ROW): John McFarland, Joe Atwell, Johnny Brumley, and Tommy Maxwell.

SCIENCE CLUB'S PROJECTS FEATURE TRIPS TO POWER PLANT, OAK RIDGE

Stimulating an interest in science and keeping students posted on new scientific information was the aim of the Science Club. At meetings, which were held on alternate Wednesdays, films were shown and scientific principles were discussed. Guest speakers were also invited to speak at various meetings.

In the spring, members of the Science Club planned a trip to Oak Ridge. A trip to a power plant such as Cowan's Ford was also planned. In January, the club members went to Union Carbide's plant. They also assisted at the science program for the PTA.

Jim Brown, president of the Science Club, spoke to sophomores and other new students about the Science Club on Orientation Day. He encouraged their joining the club if they were interested in exploring any subject related to science.

GUEST SPEAKERS HIGHLIGHT BIBLE, HEALTH CAREERS CLUB PROGRAMS

Bible Club meetings, held bi-monthly, were highlighted by guest speakers and dinner meetings. In January, Mrs Locke White, a close friend of Pearl Buck, talked to the group of her experiences in China.

North's Bible Club, through the Bible of the Month Club, helped distribute Bibles in foreign countries. They also visited the Huntersville Hospital to help feed the patients.

For interested students, the Health Careers Club explored the requirements, responsibilities, and opportunities in the field related to health. Programs included speakers, films, and field trips.

At Thanksgiving and Christmas, members distributed magazines and candy-filled turkeys to patients at Huntersville hospital. They also collected used bathing suits for the Charlotte Rehabilitation Hospital.

Although the Bible Club was small in number, it was an active club. Members were: (SEATED): Judy Goodrum, secretary; Pam Burgess, vice-president; Barbara Sherrill, president. (STANDING): Karen McAuley; Mrs. Christa Griffin, adviser; Kathy Burgess, treasurer; Elaine Tweed; and Carolyn Goodrum.

Health Careers Club members were: (FRONT ROW): Martha Fulbright; Janet Sisk; Michele Blount; Janet Perry, sophomore representative; Ellen Campbell. (ROW TWO): Cathy McCorkle; Bettina Flowe; Melinda Starling; Vickie Watson, secretary-treasurer; Ann Adams. (ROW THREE): Kaye Crowe; Judy Fox; Julia Nances; Faye Layton. (BACK ROW): Denise Lominac; Virginia Estes; Bonnie Trexler; Vickie Lominac, corresponding secretary; and Martha Robinson, president.

DE Family Night provided the parents of the Distributive Education Club a chance to see some of the results of the year's work and to visit with Mr. Blaine Kollar, adviser to the club. Those attending were; (KNEELING): James Black, Sonny Mumpower, Philip Moose; (ROW TWO): Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane, Mrs. Swicegood, Mrs. Horton, Jack Horton, Rickie Thompson, Mike Beber, Mrs. Beber, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Lowery; (BACKROW): Alice Cochrane, Larry Gahagen, Allen Swicegood, Steve M. Jordan, Doris Piercy, Joanne Lowery, and Mr. Beber.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB CONDUCTS SURVEY OF STUDENT NEEDS

North's DE Club, a major part of the Distributive Education program, promoted vocational understanding, civic consciousness, leadership development, and social growth. Participation was stressed along with classroom work and on the job experience.

One of the highlights of the year was the District DE Christmas Dance featuring Harry Deal and the Galaxies. Another feature was Parents' Night. Included in the program were the installation of officers and a film, "The DE Story."

During the year, the club conducted a survey to determine the needs of the students, particularly in the vocational field. Later, they honored their bosses at a banquet, competed in job interviews, and vied for other honors concerning their work.

When officers were installed at the Family Night program, Mr. Kollar turned the gavel over to Allen Swicegood, the new president.

Miss Johnston, Mrs. Barfield, Mr. Ross, and Mrs. Styers enjoyed refreshments served to the faculty during Teacher Appreciation Week.

TWO) Elaine Tweed, president; Tammy Wallace; Bonnie Trexler; Mary Nell Knox; Carol Grice; Jane Monteith; Barbara Sherill; Beverly Dove; Mrs. Puckett, adviser; (ROW THREE) Kay Locke; Susan Lynch; Karen McAuley, secretary-treasurer; Debbie

TWENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY FEATURED IN FUTURE HOMEMAKERS' PROGRAM

Just before the Christmas holidays, FHA members planned a party for several children in the community. Mary McElroy and Beverly Dove entertained Tommy Lynch, Mark Wadsworth, and Marie Puckett.

This year marked the twenty-first anniversary of the national Future Homemakers of America, and a birthday theme was carried out in projects. These projects included a Christmas party for young children, the collection of Christmas cards to be sent to Viet Nam, and plans to plant flowers and shrubs around the school.

During FHA Week, members of the club gave devotions, made bulletin boards, and distributed favors to the teachers and to patients at the Huntersville Hospital. Members enjoyed a Father-Daughter Banquet at the end of the year.

In October, the FHA was named "Club of the Month" for its outstanding contribution to the Symposium. Members, along with Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Puckett, planned and served a dinner for the Symposium panel members.

Typing copy for the North Star were Kathleen Plyler, Joey McConnell, and David Murray.

Mike Wilborn, co-editor, must have written a humorous cutline for one of the pictures in the North Star. Miss Lawhon, adviser, and Vivian Beard, co-editor, seemed amused, also.

BEAT MYERS PARK EDITION OF NORTH STAR INSURES HIGH REB SPIRIT

This year for the first time in many years, the North Star was a printed publication. At first, staff members put out a paper every two weeks; but after the holidays, they published it monthly.

To boost school spirit for the Myers Park basketball game, the staff printed a special "spirit edition." And what an edition it turned out to be! "Beat Myers Park" was the theme, and it really set spirits soar-ing. Slogans, rhymes, and drawings urged the team to victory. Just beat the Mustangs was the cry!

Some of the staff members attended the SIPA Convention in Lexington, Virginia in the spring.

SUB-JUNIORS, JOURNALISM CLUB SPONSOR VARIED ACTIVITIES

To make students aware of happenings in and around the school, to provide a source of enlightenment and a change from the drudgery of routine was the purpose of the Journalism Club.

At Thanksgiving they sponsored an essay contest, "This Thanksgiving I am most thankful for . . ." This was won by Vickie McConnell. The club also sponsored Youth Appreciation Week and Newspaper Week. For the first time, they had charge of senior superlatives.

Derita Sub-Juniors became more conscientious citizens and future club-women through the opportunities provided for community service in their club projects.

They raised money by selling community calendars, ironing board covers, toothbrushes, and doughnuts. They also washed cars. They sent needed things to American soldiers in Viet Nam and toys to the Gold Door.

Entertaining the Woman's Club was another activity. They presented skits and held fashion shows. A luncheon was held with Mr. Donald MacKay as guest speaker.

Members of the Journalism Club were: (FRONT ROW): Randy Black, Barbara Bullock, Vivian Beard, vice-president; Donna Campbell, secretary. (ROW TWO): Marlene Alexander, Bridgette Sloan, Marcia Ross, Miss

LATIN, FRENCH CLUBS PART OF CLASSES, STIMULATE INTEREST

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ethel Grose, the Latin Club brought the spirit of Rome to North during Latin Week. A feast with Roman dances, a "Miss Rome" contest, a Roman-A-Go-Go, and Roman singers were featured. Kathy Jones was chosen Miss Rome.

Much work went into the preparation for the banquet to which Latin Club members and teachers were invited. Dinner was served by first year Latin "slaves," and Latin students entertained during the meal.

Each student with one unit's credit in French who still studied the language was a member of the French club.

Special programs and guest speakers stimulated interest in French culture. Students presented programs using the French language.

The Reverend Horace Hilton showed slides of his trip to Paris. French exchange students from Davidson College also lectured on French customs.

Near the end of the year, the club held its traditional banquet with French food and entertainment with a French flair.

Latin Club officers included: (SEATED): Vickie Watson, secretary; Donna Sharpe, treasurer. (STANDING): Shaw Smith, banquet chairman; John McFarland, president; and Larry Greene, vice-president.

Officers of the French club were Mary Ann Goss, secretary; Buddy Caldwell, treasurer; and Camilla Hall, vice-president.

BULL FIGHT, MEXICAN DANCE ENTERTAIN STUDENTS AT BANQUET

Spanish Club officers were: (SEATED): Jim Brown, president; Marilyn Cooke, secretary-treasurer; Steve Woollen, president. (STANDING): Diane Banker, vice-president; Melda Williams, vice-president; and Karen Ashford, secretary-treasurer. These officers represented two clubs.

"Ole!" was the word at the battle between "bull" Jim Piiker and "matador" Sheri Nelson at the Spanish banquet. Spectators were overcome with laughter as these two battled to a finish.

(OPPOSITE): Jim Brown pinned a corsage on Mrs. Sims in appreciation for her work with the clubs. As Spanish teacher, she was adviser for the two clubs.

Two Spanish Clubs were formed by students taking second year Spanish. They held their meetings during class. Martha Rojas, a PRAM student from Ecuador, was one of the speakers.

During Spanish Week, club members gave morning devotions and the thought for the week in Spanish and then in English. They made bulletin boards illustrating Spanish culture. On Spanish day, club members dressed in native colors.

To climax the week's activities, a banquet was held. To provide entertainment, several students performed a Mexican Hat Dance. Others, accompanied by a banjo, sang songs in Spanish.

Highlight of the evening was a bull fight with students acting as bull and matador.

Speaking at the IRC banquet was Mrs. Flora Huntley, a social studies teacher at Garinger High School. Seated were Mrs. Helen Hart and Miss Eleanor Rigney.

Members of the IRC were (SEATED) Rosser Cartner; Martha Greene, vice-president; Marcia Ross, secretary; Brenda Baker, president; Ping Voss, treasurer; Susan Walker; Miss Eleanor Rigney, adviser; (STANDING) Betty Barnhardt; Gary Morgan; Joe Henderson; Mike Robertson; Johnny Brumley; Bruce McKeown; Lynn Boggus; and Janet Sisk.

IRC, FFA, STRIVE FOR BETTER CLUB PROGRAMS THROUGHOUT YEAR

Composed of students with an active interest in the world around them, the International Relations Club strived to fulfill this interest through carefully planned activities.

These activities included a banquet at which foreign exchange students joined North's own Ping Voss as special guests. During the year, Dr.

Phillip Secor of Davidson College spoke once on life in Russia and again on Viet Nam and United States prestige.

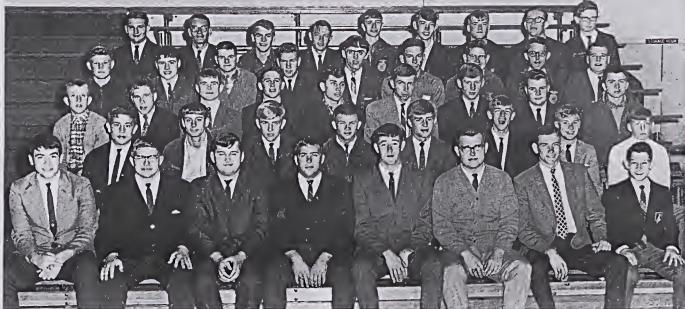

Corresponding with a sister school in Japan and raising money for Care, Inc., were other projects undertaken by members under the leadership of Miss Eleanor Rigney.

Future Farmers of America were trained in public speaking, parliamentary procedure, and agriculture. They learned to judge farm animals, seeds, and soil and to use farm machinery. They also learned shop and repair work.

BOYS SEEK RELAXATION, FULFILLMENT IN MONOGRAM CLUB, HI-Y ACTI'

Membership in the Monogram Club required earning a varsity letter and undergoing a rigorous initiation. Under the leadership of Mr. Mack Haynes, club members sold Rebel license tags, football programs, and Rebel stickers. They also manned the concession stand at ball games. The money was used to buy jackets for the senior members.

North's Hi-Y, nicknamed the Rambolin' Rebels, was the largest Hi-Y in the area. There was a spirit of cooperation and unity among the boys.

North was represented at state-wide conventions in North Wilkesboro and Charlotte and at a city-wide council of local Hi-Y's. The club participated in a basketball league and was a top contender for the trophy given at a banquet at the close of the year.

Part of Homecoming each year is the projects displayed by each homeroom to build school spirit. Miss Hackett's homeroom was the winner of first place in the contest. Hiowana Nivens examined the "Rebel TV," where the only good Indian was a dead Indian.

BOOSTERS EARN CLUB OF THE MONTH AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING WORK

Hard work was the order of the day for all the projects undertaken by the Booster Club. Marilyn Cooke, president, and Pat Alexander, vice-president, worked in the cafeteria with the help of Torrance Banks.

Before school started, the Booster Club started to work making preparations for '66-'67. Pom-poms were made and spirit signs for the first game were readied.

Most of the Homecoming activities were executed by the Booster Club. Homerooms placed exhibits in the foyer and the club gave a prize to the best three. Carrying out the theme "Bali-Hai," the Booster Club presented the sponsors at assembly.

On Blue-White Day, they asked everyone to wear the school colors. Those who did not had to lead cheers in assembly and appear before the "kangaroo court." Another spirit builder was the "burial services" for Myers Park Mustangs.

To show the school's appreciation for the work of the coaches, the Booster Club held a special pep rally in their honor.

Regular meetings were held after school, which was work time for the group. Signs and posters were made and placed in the halls; pom-poms and badges were also made and sold before each game. In January members collected money for the March of Dimes.

"Friends, Rebels, and countrymen; we come to bury Myers Park, not to praise them." This was the beginning of the funeral for the Mustangs. The procession was led by "Rev." Tommy Dickinson, followed by Pallbearers Kelsey McCall, Chris Parnell, Truscott Rhodes, and Terry Mayes. Honorary Pallbearers were the varsity cheerleaders.

KEY CLUB GETS COMMUNITY SUPPORT, GIVES $500 SCHOLARSHIP

Jerry Roberts was one of the members tapped for Key Club membership by Mike Kelly in the spring of last year. Mike Jaynes was watching as Jerry was tapped in.

Key Club members worked to serve the individual, the school, and the community. Along with the other Mecklenburg Key Clubbers, they were responsible for the Carolinas District Key Club Convention held in Charlotte in the spring.

Members participated in selling concessions at sports events and parking cars at school functions. They completed a series of programs dealing with vocations for college-bound students. They included guest speakers and trips. As a service project to the school, they sponsored the public telephone booth.

Because of their assistance to the Mecklenburg Kiwanis Club in their projects, such as the Travelogue program, the Kiwanis Club helped sponsor the scholarship program carried out by the Key Club. The scholarship was to go to a senior of need and merit. Last year's scholarship totaled $500.

CIVINETTES SPONSOR OPERATION WATCHDOG, PARENT APPRECIATION

Functioning for its third year at North, the Civinettes served the school and community. With Miss Emily Kendrick serving as adviser, the club stressed good citizenship and the development of leadership in its members.

Operation Watchdog, a school service project, recognized outstanding students at North by calling attention to the student's achievement over the intercom. Each person recognized wore a special badge on the day he was honored.

Other projects included painting the school mailbox and serving as ushers at various school events. Parent-Appreciation Night for parents of basketball players was also sponsored by the Civinettes. At the end of the year, this group sponsored Senior Week as well as Good Citizenship Week.

Christmas came to the Huntersville Hospital when the Civinettes presented a Living Nativity for the patients. Sally Neil helped to costume Brenda Puckett as a wiseman.

Miss Kendrick, Civinette adviser, passed the bucket for the trash after they had served the Christmas refreshments prepared by Diane McConnell.

The Civinette Board of Directors was made up of the officers and elected board members. They were: (FRONT ROW): LaDonna Robinette, Marilyn Cooke, president. (ROW TWO): Vickie McConnell, Sally Neil, secretary; Joy McCall, treasurer; Janet Ward, vice president. (BACK ROW): Fenna Boon, chaplain; Diane Banker, and Kathy Barnett

Members of the Civinettes were: (FRONT ROW): Pat Alexander, Deb Hefner, Joy McCall, Kati Barnett, Janet Ward, Noi Tongma, Diane Banker. BAND PERFORMS AT HALF TIME, MARCHES IN PARADES, GIVES CONCERTS

Led by drum majors Guerry Barbee and George Eubanks, the North Mecklenburg band provided entertaining half-time programs at the ball game. They also played the national anthem before the game.

Staying after school and practicing at night helped North's marching band ready themselves for their activities at the football games. Along with the majorettes and lettergirls, they gave special programs at half-time during the football season.

Adding to the school spirit, a pep band played at the pep rallies and at assemblies as seniors marched in. Under the direction of Mr. Larry Phillips, the stage band showed their interest in music and their cooperation with the music department by participating in programs throughout the year.

They played for the chorus in their presentation of special concerts and for the Miss North Mecklenburg Beauty Contest. They participated in the Carolinas Carrousel parade in Charlotte in November. They also marched in the Huntersville Christmas parade.

Each year the band participated in the Carrousel parade. This year the Blue and White of the Rebel band was sixteenth in the procession through the heart of Charlotte.

North's stage band was called the Blue Notes. Members of this group were: (FRONT ROW): Tommy Mullinax, Kent Hefner, Lyn Butler, Steve Seabolt, Paul Ehrenberg, James Fortner, Don Hager, David Nye. (ROW

TWO): Mr. Phillips, director; Kenny Spicknall, David Wallace, Steve Blair, Shaw Smith, Gary McAllister, Torrance Banks. (ROW THREE): Curtis Smith, Larry Ward, Hiowana Nivens, Jim Pilker. (ROW FOUR) Ken Dresser, Wade Mizelle, David Gibbs, Chip Davis, Truscott Rhodes, and Dan Randall.

Every performance meant hard work for all the band members. Each day during third period they met in the band room and worked on the music for all the events in which they took part.

Adding spice to the band were majorettes Becky Tate, Worda James, Joy McCall, Brenda Kerr, Kathy Lovelace, Susan Youngblood, and Marilyn Ferris. Brenda Kerr was the head majorette.

LETTERGIRLS, MAJORETTES ATTEND BAND DAY AT CHAPEL HILL

Cheering the Rebels from the sidelines and parading with the band at half-time kept the gaily costumed majorettes and lettergirls busy at North's football games.

Other activities for these girls consisted of attending the Carolina Band Day at Chapel Hill and marching in the Armistice Day parade, the Carrousel parade, and the Huntersville Christmas parade. They added much color and pep to the band.

Standing in line waiting for the Carrousel parade to begin was tiring. When one's time came to start marching, it was a welcome relief. Lettergirls and majorettes stepped lively as North's band headed out for South Boulevard and the parade.

This year lettergirls were Jenny Kelly, head; Sandy Raborn, Debbie McLaurin, Jeannie Smith, Marcia Ross, Norma Hicks, Tammy Wallace, Louella Prentiss, Carol Caldwell, and Diane Stewart.

ORCHESTRA, BAND, CHORUS IN CHRISTMAS, SPRING PROGRAMS

Mr. William Tritt directed the string orchestra. Most of the time North's group joined with the junior high for their public performances.

Since its 1965 beginning, the orchestra has grown in membership and has further developed the talents of the students. This class provided an outlet for tensions built up during the school day. It also helped to broaden the interests of the members.

Joining with the band and the chorus, the orchestra helped present the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, and other programs.

REBEL SINGERS GIVE VARIED PROGRAMS; CHORUS GIVES MUSICAL

Throughout the year, the chorus and various choral groups participated in many activities. One of these groups, the Rebel Singers, performed at sophomore orientation, the Carousel Beauty Contest, graduation, assembly programs, and Adult Booster meetings.

They participated in many special programs, such as the fall concert, "A Night in Song," concerts at the junior highs, a Christmas concert, and also one in the spring. They entered the choral contest at Owens Auditorium in March. Last year all three groups in the contest received excellent ratings.

In February of 1967, the chorus presented its second musical, "Where Is the Mayor?" It also produced another recording for sale, since its first, "The World Outside," was a success.

Rehearsing again and again seemed a drudge at times, but when everyone dressed up and curtain rose, there was a thrill in giving a good performance. Many hours went into every program, but students always enjoyed them as well as the audience did.

Dressed in the fashion of "Alfalfa" of the Little Rascals, Emilie Garmon had a part in the chorus's first musical, "Mr. Crane."

Choral groups performed many times, both at school and in the community. Sometimes, dress was formal, but at times, they wore checked shirts when informal songs, such as country and folk songs were on the program.

For special performances, a group called the Rebel Singers were called upon. Members of this group were: (FRONT ROW): Judy Basden, Sylvia Taylor, Patricia Barnette, Sandy Raborn, Julia Nance, Karen Jennings, Jeanie McDonald, Kay Locke, Pat

Alexander. (ROW TWO): Dorothy Cooper, Judy Howard, Dianne Stewart, Emilee Garmon, Kathy Barnette, Rebecca Sims, Ann Bridger, Sherry Sigmon. (ROW THREE): Mr. Coggins, Neil Stone, Bill Bradford, Jerry Cranford, Peter Thompson, Charles Van-

zant. (BACK ROW): Phillip Cannon, Dennis Groce, Buddy Jordan, Doug McElroy, Eddie Pender, and Don Bailey. Most of this same group went to Greensboro to compete with other musical groups in the spring.

(FRONT ROW): Mrs. Steele was adviser for the Masqueraders. Members were Sheri Nelson, recording secretary; Kitty Nelson, Camilla Hall, Karen Mauch, Deidre Reich, Claudia Myers, Sidney Small, Debbie Morez, Janet Perry. (ROW TWO): Cindy Grayson, Eddie White, Steve Lowrance, Marty Johnson, Karen Jennings, John Green, vice-president; Patsy Hough, Lynn

MASQUERADERS PRESENT "GIFT OF LAUGHTER," SERIES OF COMEDIES

Promoting interest in dramatic arts by serving as an outlet for the interested and talented was the aim of North's dramatics club, the Masqueraders.

This club gave three full length programs during the year. Part of each was given in assemblies to the entire student body to stimulate interest in the productions.

Members of the club also presented a one-act play for the festival sponsored by the Carolina Dramatics Association.

Performing in the comedy, "The Bald Soprano," Gini McAllister and Sammy Greene helped to present the "Gift of Laughter," the name chosen for the evening of comedy.

Joey Saiters was a model student in the production, "Up the down Staircase." He helped to drive his teacher to her wit's end.

THESPIAN TROUPE ORGANIZES, RECEIVES NATIONAL CHARTER

Receiving the charter for the newly formed Thespians was Mr. Hough, principal of North. This charter was presented by Camilla Hall, president of the group.

After applying for and receiving its charter from the National Thespian Society, the Thespian Club got on its feet with the election of officers and the pledging of its charter members. Drama students qualified for membership on a point-system basis. Points were given for outstanding performance in all areas of stage production—acting, lighting, make-up, sound, directing, and scenery. A minimum of ten points was required, but individual clubs were allowed to set their own point system. When a member accumulated the necessary number of points more than once, he was awarded a gold star.

Activities of the Thespian Troupe included a trip to see the movie, Dr. Zhivago, and a banquet at the end of the year. They were host to a seven-school local drama festival in May, at which they presented a play. Awards were given at the end of the year.

FBLA members were: (FRONT ROW): Mrs. Joyce Keller, adviser; Nita Hyatt, Billy Lunn, Judy Lutz, Kathy Lovelace, Cathy Hodge, Charlotte Wilson. (ROW TWO): Kathy Davis, Sharon Ballew, Kathy Barnett, secretary; Linda Henderson, Martha Pierce, Vannie Gregory, Eva Houston, Carolyn Goodrum, Tammy Wallace, Steve D. FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS, ART CLUB ENTER COMPETITIVE ACTIVITIES

Representatives from the Future Business Leaders of America attended the "Investors Forum." Tours through the American Credit Corporation and Wachovia Bank and competition with other chapters of the state convention in Durham were other highlights of the year's activities. Club-sponsored projects raised money for a scholarship awarded in the spring.

To increase knowledge of art and interest in it throughout the school was the purpose of the Art Club. Speakers from college art departments, films, and lectures augmented the program. Christmas projects, consisting of displays in the school and in Shoney's window, a permanent project for the school, and a week-long Spring Art Show rounded out the club's activities.

land, treasurer; Bruce McKeown, Phil Rimer, reporter; Doyle Knox. (BACK ROW): Jack Hendricks, Gary Alexander, Ralph Grier, and Darrell Sanford.

FUTURE TEACHERS EXPLORE PROFESSION THROUGH FILMS AND SPEAKERS

Mary McElroy, who was president of the Future Teachers, served at one of the teas that the club gave the faculty. Mrs. Griffin, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. Mixon, and Mrs. Phifer were some of the teachers enjoying the refreshments.

Members of the Future Teachers of America were (FRONT ROW) Marilyn Ferris, Melba Williams, Barbara MacKay, Sherry Matney, Myrtle Means, Gloria Brown, Miss Betsy Nichols, adviser. (ROW TWO) Sandy Raborn, Susan Youngblood, Sandy Smith, Future Teachers of America strove to attain a realistic look at teaching by exploring their own abilities and interests. Their aim was to cultivate high qualities of personality, character, and leadership through aiding faculty members in their work.

On the afternoons when teachers' meetings were held, the FTA gave teas for the faculty's enjoyment. In October, club members attended the state FTA Convention in Salisbury, and in the spring, they visited several colleges. FTA members also served as secretaries to any teacher who desired this service.

Programs for the regular FTA meetings included guest speakers and films on topics of interest to the members.

1966 VIKING SCORES HIGH: STAFF MEMBERS STRIVE FOR BETTER EDITION

Early in the school year, ads were sold to raise money for the 1967 Viking. "As Rebels Turn Sixteen" was the theme picked by members of the staff.

Mrs. Barfield and Mrs. Cooke, advisers, divided the members of the staff in groups, each working on different sections.

As the ever-present deadlines had to be met, workers became more frantic and less patient. Taking each task in order and working at each job until its completion, the Viking staff began to slowly see some light.

Thrills marked the day when the Viking finally arrived. One could not wait to see what it looked like.

The big question for the staffers was whether the 1967 Viking would measure up to the preceding one. Last year's book had a score of 976 out of a possible 1000 from Columbia. However, if the students liked the book, that was all the members of the staff asked.

Editors of the Viking were: (SEATED): Curtis Rhodes, Sally Walker, and (STANDING): Dick Dickinson.

Making decisions concerning organizations was a daily chore for Gail Baucom, Brenda Baker, and Kenny Saunders.

Trying to identify a thousand people can become quite complicated. With help of the teachers, Marilyn Ferris and Susan Youngblood finally readied the classes section for the press.

Marilyn Cooke had to see that all copy was ready when deadlines were nearing. Here Linda Stuart (Standing) checked with her on classes copy.

David Walker learned about the annual staff's camera from Dennis Black. These two were responsible for seeing that school events were covered and pictures printed. Work in the darkroom was time consuming but gratifying.

BUS DRIVERS' RESPONSIBILITY GREAT: STUDENT SAFETY FIRST CONCERN

Qualifications for North's bus drivers included the ability to drive well, the right attitude toward driving, and an understanding of the need to consider the passengers' welfare at all times.

Drivers were given written tests, as well as a driving test, to determine their fitness for the job. Concern for the safety of the passenger was the first responsibility of the driver. Being on time, keeping order on the bus, and keeping the bus clean at all times were also a part of the driver's job.

At times these drivers were called upon to drive the bus to take elementary and junior high students to special programs. They kept an accurate record of the mileage, the gas used, and the number of passengers transported.

Davidson College football coach, Homer Smith, spoke to the Adult Booster Club at one of their meetings. Other speakers were two of North's graduates who now attend Davidson.

Mr. Ted Archer, who graduated from North the first year of its opening, was president of the Adult Booster Club. He and other North alumni worked to help the school, particularly the athletic department.

PARENTS, ALUMNI BOOST ACTIVITIES, ORGANIZE ADULT BOOSTER CLUB

After the ball games, the Adult Booster Club served refreshments to the players. After football season, a banquet honoring the football players, cheerleaders, and their dates was held in the cafeteria. Following this, the Bartoks, a group of North students, played for the dance.

Another project of the Adult Booster Club was the sponsorship of the Rebel. Selected by a committee of teachers, Buddy Jordan, dressed in the Rebel uniforms furnished by the club, helped keep spirits high.

Chosen by a committee of teachers, Buddy Jordan was the first one to wear the Rebel costume furnished by the Adult Boosters.

For the wrestling team, the Adult Booster Club provided a wrestling mat. This was used for practices and matches. Other projects were in the planning stage, but a successful one was the fish fry before one of the basketball games. Getting the support of the entire community meant more work could be done for the school by the Adult Boosters.

Brenda Kerr, her date Jay Benton, Libby Sparks, and her date Roy Baker were among those who enjoyed the banquet-dance sponsored by the Adult Boosters.

Each month before the regular PTA meeting, the executive committee met to plan the activities of the organization. Some members of the committee were: (FRONT ROW): Mrs. Ed Bye, president; Mrs. Alex Garrison, vice-president; Mrs. Rob Wallace, Mrs. A. E. Dresser. (BACK ROW): Mr. W. E. Parnell, treasurer; Mrs. Don Harry, Mr. W. A. Hough, and Mrs. E. H. Baucom.

PTA SPONSORS SYMPOSIUM, FALL FESTIVAL, BEAUTY CONTEST, RECEPTION

This year, North's PTA helped sponsor the foreign exchange program by paying partial expenses of the student.

In October, they presented the annual J. Walton Wilson Symposium. Financial aid for the World Peace Contest delegate was given by the PTA. Another fund went into a scholarship for a qualified North student. Sponsoring the Senior Reception for graduates was also an activity of the association.

Varied projects were carried out to make money for their activities. Two of these projects were the Fall Festival and the Carrousel Beauty Contest. Each year, the school benefited as the money was spent for the school in some way.

Even the small fry enjoyed the sock hop after the talent show at the Fall Festival. Curt Glendenning could not help joining in the action.

Hoping to win another cake, Chris Parnell attempted to sink the most goals in ten tries. Chris had already won several times.

LaDonna Robinette was one of a trio that presented dances from several periods. This included the Charleston and a modern dance.

Doug McElroy used his talents to entertain at the piano. He and his drummer, Raeford Bustle, took part in the Fall Festival.

With feeling, Johnny Pinyan belted out his song with his group, the Bartoks.

Many singing groups took part in the talent show presented at the Fall Festival. Among those were Don Hager, Kathy Barnette, and Sherry Sigmon.

Another group to perform at the Fall Festival was December's Children. Members of the group were Dick Dickinson, David Long, Ronnie Phillips, and Mark Myers.

With Mrs. Catherine Dennis acting as moderator, the panel for the symposium were Dr. Edward Pohlman, Mr. Pat Taylor, Mr. Bill Flowers, and Judge W. I. Gatling.

"THE FAMILY: GRASSROOTS OF OUR SOCIETY" TOPIC OF FIFTH SYMPOSIUM

Mrs. Oliver Ranson and son Doug talked with panel member Pat Taylor after the symposium.

Along with the Huntersville Woman's Club, the PTA presented the annual J. Walton Wilson Symposium. This year the theme was "The Family: Grassroots of Our Society." Forming the panel were Mr. Bill Flowers from the N.C. Fund office, Dr. Edward Pohlman, Dana professor of Sociology at Queens College; Mr. Pat Taylor, former Speaker of the N. C. House of Representatives; and Judge W. I. Gatling, of the Charlotte Domestic Relations and Juvenile Court. Mrs. Catherine T. Dennis served as moderator.

After the panel had given their ideas and expressed their points of view, questions were submitted from the audience. These were screened and then passed on for discussion by the panel.

Student Committee members were Mary Nell Knox, Barbara Sherrill, Elaine Tweed, chairman; Donna Brannon, and Truscott Rhodes. These students helped with the plans and acted as hosts for the dinner given the panelists.

ATHLETICS TRIGGERS SPIRIT, MORE PARTICIPATION

For sixteen years, North Mecklenburg has had active athletic teams. In the first year, 1952, five varsity sports were offered. Through years of growth, a student is now offered a choice of nine varsity sports; this year a swimming team was added. Titles captured during these years range from conference championships to state championships. Simultaneously as the number of varsity sports and amount of student participation grew, this sixteenth year saw both a packed stadium and standing-room only crowds in the gym.

FIVE REBELS WIN SPOT ON ALL-COUNTY TEAM; ONE CHOSEN ALL-STATE

As a past recipient of the football sportsmanship Award at North, Mike Kelly, now freshman at Davidson, presented a like trophy to Mike Ray. Jimmy Poole, the first player to be voted as most valuable football player at North, also from Davidson, presented the Most Valuable Player trophy to Larry Hefner.

Five Rebels were chosen for the all-county team. John Woods, an end who racked up 60 points for the Rebs; Glenn Morris, who had an outstanding record of 19 touchdown passes and a total of 1878 offensive yards; Larry Hefner, a solid link in the chain for the Rebs as linebacker; Buddy Caldwell, who as fullback scored 18 points during the season; and Mike Ray, who scored 48 points and totaled 716 offensive yards were the players to earn this recognition.

Former Rebel quarterback Jim Poole, now quarterbacking for the Wildcats, was on hand to present the Most Valuable Player trophy to Larry Hefner.

Mike Ray was given the Best Sportsmanship Award by his teammates. Last year's winner, Mike Kelly, made the presentation.

In one game George Whitley took the ball on kick-off and raced down the field for 87 yards and a touchdown. Here he awaited for another such chance.

Being able to move with the ball was one talent of Mike Ray. Here he moved down field with the Eagle defense hot on his trail.

REBS HAVE BEST SEASON IN EIGHT YEARS

After opening the basketball season with a 68-43 win over Independence, North dropped the next three games. Against Harding, however, the Rebs started a 7-game winning streak.

A spectacular last second 40-foot jump shot by Connor pushed North over Second Ward 59-58. Rivens helped push North over Huss, 89-64. With 12 seconds left, a free throw by Parnell gave North a 68-67 win over West.

For their fifth win, the Rebs defeated East 62-58. South went under next 73-53, with Olympic falling 82-67.

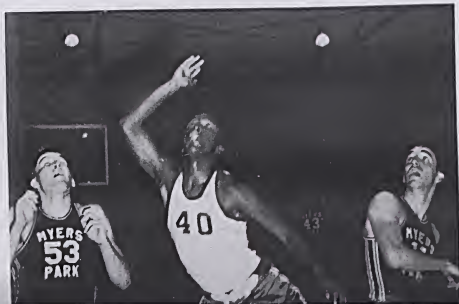

Ashley's Green Waves, however, rolled over the Rebels 63-59 to end the victory march for North.

Scoring in double figures from the five starters brought the biggest win of the season as North tamed the Mustangs 83-80. Garinger fell next, 81-76 in an overtime period.

Season's end found North in fourth position in the conference. In the tournament North played West. With one second remaining, West let go just before the whistle sounded to win over the Rebels by one point.

When the team called time, they expected Coach Pigg to give emphatic instructions to them. Glenn Morris, Roger Sherrill, and Chris Parnell got a clear picture of what they should do.

Rivens went up over Myers Park to two points against them.

It looked for a moment as if the had come to the gym; however, C knew it was basketball. Two more went through for North, although the game to Myers Park on the home

Tommy Dickinson, Glenn Morris, Chris Parnell, Jerry Roberts, and Roger Sherrill listened earnestly for pointers to stop West.

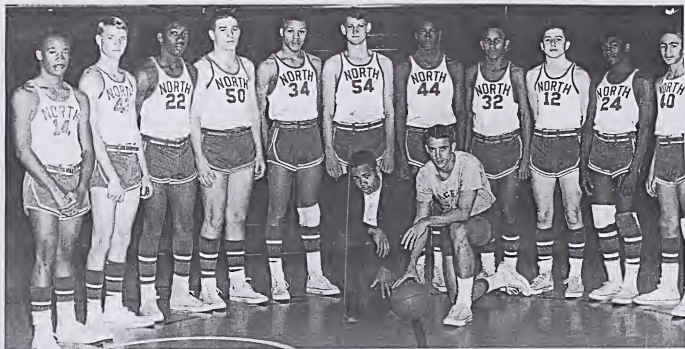

Tommy Dickinson (10) went up for a lay-up while two West opponents looked on helplessly.

Number 32, Chris Parnell, made the supreme effort as an opposing player tried to steal the ball.

Roger Sherrill (44) made two points with a jump shot against Myers Park.

North's Rebs tried to make every opportunity count. Glenn Morris (52) added to the score by means of the free throw.

Junior Varsity basketball players were: (KNEELING): Jerry Rivens, Coach Bruce Hayes: (STANDING): Vernon Thompson, Woody Davis, Billy Springs, Doug Boyce, Chris Caldwell, Bill Rogers, Ronnie Alexander, Curtis Brandon, Alan White, Larry Sherrill, Stanley Graham, and Walt Neal.

LITTLE REBS ADVANCE TO FINALS, FINISH SECOND IN TOURNAMENT

Curtis Brandon (32) shot over an attempted block as West's Junior Varsity looked on helplessly.

A ball on the loose meant a scramble to recover it. Both Larry Sherrill and the opponent from Myers Park attempted to gain possession.

With a 13-7 record, the Little Reb: ended the season. Paced by the high scoring of Brandon and Thompson the team won their last seven game: before the tournament.

Defeating two teams, the Little Reb: moved into the semi-finals. Playing Harding, North won the game in the final seconds with Neil's making two free throws. In the final game however, the team lost to Second Ward.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM SETS NEW RECORDS, PLACES TENTH IN STATE

Participants in the state cross country meet at Chapel Hill were Bill Bradford, Doug McElroy, Donald Railey, and Joe Abernethy.

North's cross country team, with two of the first five men on last year's state championship team back, had a successful season. The year's activity was capped by a tenth place finish in the state meet at Chapel Hill.

Doug McElroy set a new school course record of 11:34.3 and tied the Southwestern 4-A conference mark of 10:54.0 at Harding. Doug placed first in five meets and placed fourth in the state. Joe Abernethy was the only man in the regular season to beat Doug in a meet. Joe placed second in the state meet.

In the Wake Forest High School Invitational Meet, North placed 6th out of 13 teams; in the Southwestern 4-A Conference Meet at Harding, North finished 6th in the conference.

Co-captains of the cross country team were Doug McElroy and Joe Abernethy.

Comprising the cross country team were: (KNEELING): Bill Bradford, Joe Abernethy. (STANDING): Coach W. B. Cochran, Doug McElroy, John McFarland, and Donald Railey.

TRACK TEAM SETS NEW RECORDS, BRINGS RECOGNITION TO MEMBERS

North's track team set several new records in 1966. They grabbed fourth place in the conference and then rose to fourth place in the state.

John Puckett, Most Valuable Player, was state champion in the 880-yard run. James Puckett, who won the Sportsmanship Award, placed fourth in the state 880-yard run. Doug McElroy set a new team record of 4:27.7 in the mile event.

Three times the 880-yard relay team record was broken, leaving the present record of 1:37.6 set by Ronnie Howard, Charles Eye, John Ashcraft, and Sammy Knox.

In the Queen City Relays, the two-mile relay team of John Puckett, James Puckett, Ronnie Howard, and Joe Abernethy set a new meet record of 8:09.65.

In the Queen City Relays, Ronnie Howard placed fourth in the broad jump. North placed seventh in the meet.

Taking third place for the mile in the state meet, Doug McElroy set a new team record of 4:27.7.

At the Southwestern 4-A Conference Meet, Joe Abernethy placed second in the 880-yard relay, while James Puckett placed fourth. John Puckett won first place and set a new conference record of 1:57.5.

Moss, Mike McKnight, Ralph Ferrell, Allen Barnette, Mack Jamison, Al Temple, and Jerry Beard. Mr. Glendenning was the coach.

REBEL MATMEN REACH STATE FINALS; WHISENANT WINS STATE TITLE

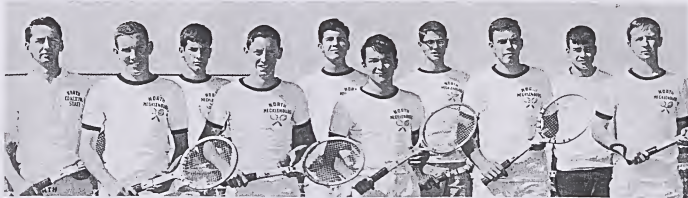

Wayne Taylor's opponent, Kelly Wingate, tried a standing switch in an effort to pin Wayne. Referee Pete Gilchrist kept a close watch.

This year the wrestling team posted a 5-7 record. Two members led the team with outstanding records. Mike Anderson had a 9-0 record but was defeated in the district finals. Danny Whisenant, with a 10-1 record, won first place in the state finals.

Two other Rebels represented North at the state tournament. They were Wayne Taylor in the 154 pound class and Tommy Jones, 180 pound division. They had placed third and fourth in their divisions.

Johnny Dellinger, Glenn McLeroy, Pete Canipe and Danny Whisenant congratulate Mike Anderson after he pinned his opponent.

TENNIS TEAM ENDS '66 SEASON WITH FOURTEEN VICTORIES, ONE DEFEAT

North's tennis team went through its regular season winning fourteen matches against a lone defeat at the hands of Myers Park, winner of the state championship.

Vic Blackwell was the only Reb to go undefeated. Three other players, Bruce Parker, John Woods, and Steve White, lost only one match each.

Doubles team players Lloyd and Parker also went undefeated in regular play. In nine of the matches, the Rebels held their opponents scoreless. Only one time did an opposing team manage to collect over three points in a match.

In the state tournament, where the Rebels finished fifth, C. W. Stacks and David Lloyd both advanced to the second round. Parker-Blackwell doubles team advanced to the quarter finals.

During the course of the season, North piled up 112½ points to their opponents 17½ points.

SWIMMING TEAM BREAKS FORMER RECORDS, PLACES FIFTH IN STATE MEET

Ross Bradford displayed a final spurt of energy as he neared the finish line in a match with the Davidson College freshman team.

Last year's swimming "team" was made up of only one member who went on to win a state championship. With that beginning, this year's team grew to seven in number.

Most of the practicing was done at the YMCA, where the boys put in long hours. This paid off, for they splashed their way to a good first season.

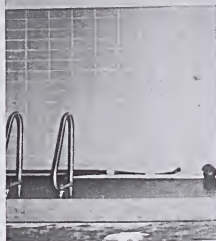

John Long, last year's butterfly champion, used perfect style as he began the 100-yard butterfly, which he won in a match with the college freshmen.

Making up this year's swimming team were: (FRONT ROW): John Long, Ross Bradford, Steve Billings. (ROW TWO) Ronnie Rozzelle, Chuck Roberts, captain; Mr. W. J. Cochran, coach; Frank Cobb, and Keith Suddeth.

Adding points to the team score was Frank Cobb, who performed a front pike.

Rebel 4-A state champion baseball team included: (SEATED): Jerry Beard, Terry Mayes, Kelsey McCall, Sandy Lowrance, tri-captain; Mike Kelly, tri-captain; Wayne

Taylor, Joe Lee Puckett, trainers: (ROW TWO): Allen McAuley, Steve Hargett, Mike Ray, Doug Cantrell, Chuck Whisenant, Roger Sherrill. (ROW THREE): Mr. William Ross, coach; Don Oxidine, Glenn Morris, Dou Robertson, Buddy Caldwell, tri-captain Jerry McKee, Terry White, and Mr. Anse Glendenning, coach.

BASEBALL TEAM WINS 4-A STATE CHAMPIONSHIP IN CRUCIAL GAME

Buddy Caldwell won 8 games and lost 3; his batting average was .311. In the playoffs his average was .357.

North's 1966 baseball season got off to a flying start with a 5-3 victory over East. Buddy Caldwell batted in two runs and pitched the Rebs to a win. With the score 5-1, East pushed across 2 runs in the seventh, but that was not enough to defeat the Rebs.

For its second win, North defeated the defending state champion, Garinger, 2-1. With North behind 1-0, Mike Ray blasted a triple and came in on an error. Then Glenn Morris brought in Robertson. Caldwell proceeded to hold the Wildcats, and North won, 2-1.

North stepped on Myers Park for its third win, 3-2. Roger Sherrill knocked in the tying run for the Rebels in the bottom of the seventh with two out. In an extra inning, North loaded the bases to set up the winning run which came in when Robertso singled.

Scoring 12 runs during regular season, Mike Kelly was a factor in winning the state championship. He was named to the all-conference as well as the all-state team.

Two of the pitchers who were responsible for North's championship were (ABOVE) Terry White and (RIGHT) Roger Sherrill. Terry had an outstanding record of five wins and one tie; he also pitched in the playoffs. Roger's record was an impressive 5-0.

At West, North had to score three runs in the seventh inning to tie the game. With two runs in the eighth, the Rebs won 5-3. Caldwell was the pitcher.

In the game with Ashley, North led 6-0 at the end of four innings. Suddenly the score was 6-6. In the eighth, Cantrell singled to bring in Caldwell and win the game for the Rebs.

North's first loss came at the hands of Harding by a score of 5-3. This loss dropped them out of the conference lead for the first time.

With a four for four performance at the plate, Kelsey McCall helped put North ahead of Huss 11-9 to give Sherrill a win.

East's hopes were shattered when the Rebs handed them an 8-0 defeat. Terry White was the pitcher.

And so it went through the season. Then came the playoffs when North had to defeat both High Point and West to enter the playoff for the state 4-A championship.

CALDWELL, KELLY COMBINE TO SPARK NORTH'S WIN OVER SMITH

After defeating High Point and West, North began a three game series with Greensboro's Smith for the state 4-A championship. The Rebs went down 1-0 in the first game.

Terry White pitched a three-hitter to lead North in a 3-1 comeback.

In the crucial final game, the Rebs couldn't find the ball for the first three innings as the score stood 5-0 in Smith's favor. Caldwell replaced White on the mound.

In the top of the fourth, Caldwell and Kelly stopped a Smith runner before he reached home plate. Spirits soared and North scored two runs.

In each of the next two innings, the Rebs came through with two runs. Meanwhile, Caldwell held Greensboro to two hits, the best Smith could do for the rest of the game.

A tense seventh inning seemed to last forever as North led 6-5, but nothing happened. At last the game ended and North emerged 4-A state champion.

Caldwell and Kelly made the play that sparked the Rebels to victory over Greensboro. Smith's runner on third attempted to come in on a bunted ball. Caldwell scooped up the ball, tossing it to Kelly. Kelly was ready and tagged the runner before he could score. From there out it was the Rebels' game.

CHEERLEADERS SERVE TO PEP UP STUDENT SPIRIT FOR REBEL EVENTS

In the spring of '66 eight girls were elected cheerleaders and three more, alternates. When school re-opened two sophomores were elected. During the summer, varsity members raised approximately $200 for new uniforms and pompons.

Along with leading pep rallies, cheerleaders were in charge of special programs such as the "Myers Park Burial" services. For the Garinger game they sponsored "Vote for Victory." The homeroom having the most members present won $5. "Vote for Victory" gave North her largest attendance at a ball game this year.

Forming a human pyramid to emphasize their point, the cheerleaders encouraged, "All for North High, stand up and holler!"

During pep rallies, cheerleaders and students showed they were standing back of the teams.

Helping to boost the spirit of the "little Rebs" was the job of the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. These sophomores were Bon Maxwell, Teresa Stinson, Penny Bebber, Katy Coley, head; Beck Hefner, and Mary Roach.

J.V. CHEERLEADERS ACTIVE IN SUPPORTING TEAMS, PROMOTING SPIR

North's Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were active this year in supporting the teams and promoting school spirit. Sophomore girls were given the chance to go out for cheerleading shortly after their arrival at North.

Before trying out for the student body, candidates spent several afternoons in the gym learning the cheers. Then at a special assembly, these girls performed in pairs. To serve on the varsity squad, two were elected.

Six were elected to serve as Junior Varsity Cheerleaders, with three serve as alternates.

Their main duties consisted of cheering at junior varsity games.

Cheering their team to victory during a home football game were Beck Hefner and Penny Bebber.

GYMNASTICS PROVIDES CHANCE TO PURSUE SPECIAL ATHLETIC INTEREST

Daily after-school practice culminated in a "Where the Action Is" show for members of the gymnastics team. Individual and group routines were mastered on such equipment as the trampoline, mat, horse, balance beam and parallel bars. The team, which demonstrated its prowess in a late spring assembly program, was open to all interested students.

Joy McCall presented acts on the trampoline and balance beam, showing great ability in both performances. At the sides of the trampoline to insure her safety are David Gray and John Green.

It takes a lot of confidence in a performer to stand straight up and let a person jump over one's head. Lynda Aldred seemed to have some doubt about Bobby Jackson's ability as he leaped over her head.

Those working to put on a fine gymnastics program were: (SEATED): Linda Hopkins, Nancy Dickinson, Barbara Holder, Lynda Aldred, Neal Latane. (KNEELING): Runette Riggs, Martha Johnston, Donna Sharpe, Kathy Grimes. (STANDING): Coach Chipley Church (now Mrs. Dave Johnson), John Green, Tommy Maxwell, Mike Jaynes, James Lowe, Bobby Jackson, David Gray, Frank Simmons. GAA ORGANIZE TEAMS; FURTHER SPORTSMANSHIP, SCHOOL SPIRIT

Peggy Lankford practiced basketball shots in an effort to earn more points.

Kitty Jones, president of G.A.A., goes in for a lay-up.

Furthering sportsmanship and school spirit at North were the aims of the Girls' Athletic Association. Since North has no program for girls' competitive sports, the club is sponsored for those girls wanting to take an active part in athletics.

Points were awarded for participation in games and practices and for attendance at meetings. A girl became a voting member after she had earned twenty-five points and had paid her dues. The girls were awarded their G.A.A. shields after earning two hundred points and their letters after earning three hundred points. The members participated in intramurals, field days, and plays day.

Competitive teams were also organized by the G.A.A. One of the teams was the hockey team. The Hockey team practiced nearly every afternoon and finished with a record of 3-0; this included a victory over Myers Park! Another team organized was the basketball team. This season consisted of 8 games. Volleyball and track teams were also formed.

Charlene Holt, Kay Pender, Mary Roach, Betsy Ayers, Janivae Cooper, Michele Blount, Peggy Lankford, Brenda Correll. (ROW THREE): Pam Farrow, Varona Wynn, Nancy Dickinson, Janet Cox, Sandy Raborn, Kay Crowe, Jamie Griffith, Jane Nicholls, Alice Ratliff, Susan Walker, Jane Seay, Laura

STUDENTS, FACULTY CLASH: GOLFERS IMPROVE

North's golf team, coached by Mr. Mack Haynes, made vast improvements during their second year of play. Although they were winless, Eddie Hilton and Danny Whisenant each scored a point while Skeet Royster added $\frac{1}{2}$ point. North's inexperienced team consisted of two seniors, five juniors, and one sophomore. Through the year they gained valuable experience, which served to establish a solid foundation for the following year.

The big fun game of the year, the faculty-varsity clash, also made money for the athletic department.

Action in the first quarter gave the varsity a 13-point lead; at half-time they maintained an 11-point margin. Spurred on by their coach, Mr. Mack Haynes, the faculty came roaring back to tie the game 54-54. However, the students added three field goals and three more foul shots to win the game.

"Just play it cool, Mr. Ross," seemed to be what Tommy Dickinson was trying to tell faculty member Ross as Dickinson (10) tried to stop his shot.

Hunsucker (34) and Parnell (32) fight for a rebound as does Mr. Hayes. Mr. Glendenning is ready to scrap if it should come his way, and so is Dickinson.

Mr. Holden seemed pleased to keep Marcus Rivens from getting the ball. "You just try to get it!" he dared Marcus.

STUDENTS FEATURED FOR DEDICATION, ABILITY

In all the activities of the school, there were certain students that, through hard work and ability and dedication, stood out above the rest. They had brought honor and recognition to the school as well as to themselves. These scholastic achievers, award winners, and hard workers of today were the future leaders and responsible citizens of tomorrow. In the sixteen years of North growth, each year has been the climax of effort for a number of students.

MARCIA ROSS SELECTED TO REPRESENT NORTH AT CARROUSEL

Nineteen junior and senior girls were chosen by homeroom vote to vie for the title of Miss North Mecklenburg and for the honor to represent North at the Carolina's Carrousel Pageant.

For these girls, the air was filled with excitement as each one was introduced and she walked across the stage in view of the judges. Mr. C. W. Stacks was the master of ceremonies.

After a series of eliminations, Karen Brotherton and Linda Robertson were named first and second runners-up. Then came the most exciting moment of all, when Marcia Ross was crowned Miss North Mecklenburg.

Marcia represented North at the Knights' Ball, in the Carrousel parade, and at the other activities connected with the Carrousel.

Judges at the beauty contest were Mr. Earl Crawford, Sr., Mr. Jim Beaty, and Mrs. Jerry Ammons.

As president of the student body, Truscott Rhodes had the honor of escorting Marcia down the aisle and back again for the audience to get a good look at her.

Miss North Mecklenburg, Marcia Ross, rode on a float in the parade with the Rebel cheerleaders. She wore a green velvet gown for the occasion, and on her head was the crown she had won at North.

Last year's princess, Kathy Barnette, crowned excited Marcia Ross as the new Carrousel princess.

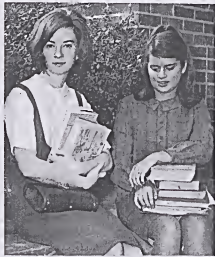

FROM NORWAY CAME PING TO SHARE EXPERIENCES WITH REBELS

Through the CESP, Eileen Helene Voss, better known as Ping, came to North from Oslo, Norway. Her American "sister" was Betty Barnhardt, with whom she lived in Davidson.

Arriving in August, Ping soon adjusted and took her place as a real Rebel. She entered into school life, joined clubs of her choice, and became an honorary member of others.

When she returned to Oslo, she faced another year in high school there before she could enter the University of Oslo. She had, however, already graduated with her class from North.

Ping's "sister", along with Ping, waited for friends to take them to Davidson.

Ping became an honorary member of the National Honor Society. Fenna Boon tapped her in.

Early in the fall, the IRC and other clubs joined together to give North students a chance to meet Ping. At a reception given in her honor, Ping met many Rebels and enjoyed having fun with them.

Being responsible for Ping, North's Foreign Exchange Committee included Diane Banker, Linda Hopkins, Bill Strong, Miss Eleanor Rigney, Fenna Boon, Ping Voss, Betty Barnhardt, Joey McConnell, and Martha Johnston.

Homecoming sponsors and their escorts were: (FRONT ROW): Allen McAuley, Bettina Flowe, Doug McElroy, Diane Stewart, Danny Whisenant, Kathy Lovelace, Vic Morris, Kathy Barnette. (ROW TWO): Tru-scott Rhodes, Martha Johnston, Tommy Dickinson, Linda Dease, Phil Rimer, Donna Elliott, Jerry Roberts, Cindy Grayson. (ROW THREE): Mike Ray, Karen Brotherton, Joe Stinson, Wanda Bridges, George Whitley, Sandra Ross, John Woods, Hope Minter. (BACK ROW): Buddy Caldwell, Judy Kelly, Robert Greene, Mary Nell Knox, Larry Hefner, Kathy Jones, Joe Hill and Sandra McConnell.

"BALI-HAI" THEME OF HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES; SPONSORS RECEIVE LEIS

Against a South Sea Island backdrop, sponsors met their escorts and were presented to the student body. In assembly and at the game, the Blue Notes featured music from South Pacific, carrying out the "Bali-Hai" theme. The Homecoming Dance, held the following night, featured decorations on the same theme.

Myra Triplett seemed amused at Chris Parnell's grace in placing a lei around her neck.

Among those present at the Homecoming Dance were Gary Morgan and Judy Vinesett. Decorations at the dance included a wall decoration of fishnet covered with flowers and shells, travel posters, and flaming torches.

Seniors and their selected sponsors for Homecoming were: (FRONT ROW): Vic Blackwell, Barbara Park; Joe Abernethy, Louella Prentiss; Kelsey McCall, Nancy Dickinson; Terry Mayes, Linda Robertson.

During an assembly, boys presented their sponsors to the student body, who later voted on their choice for Homecoming queen. Jim Brown escorted his sponsor, Sally Walker, through the bamboo trees, down the green path to "Bali-Hai."

On a very foggy night, the sponsors were presented at half-time of the Homecoming game played with West. Some sponsors and their escorts were Phil Rimer, Donna Elliott, Allen McAuley, and Bettina Flowe.

SENIORS RECOGNIZED FOR MANY OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTIONS TO NORTH

Vitaly interested in the affairs of the school, STEVE WHITE participated in all phases of school life. Respected by his peers, he held a number of offices and his dependability reflected through the manner in which he carried out his duties. Steve supported the activities of the school with his presence; at the same time, he was an active participant in many. Highly talented academically, Steve won acclaim for his ability. His talent in math was particularly outstanding.

STEPHEN LOCKE WHITE

Featured this year are twenty-two students from the senior class who have proved themselves to be outstanding. They were nominated on the basis of superiority in leadership, service, character, and scholarship. Throughout their years at North, their participation has been marked by perseverance, citizenship, and devotedness.

To select this group, senior home-rooms made nominations. These names were given to members of the faculty, who marked their approval of those they found most deserving. Giving each of these nominations and teacher approvals a point value, a like value was placed on the number of organizations of which a student had been a member, the number of offices he had held, and the awards he had won.

The Viking is proud to present these twenty-two students.

Fulfillment
Senior Achievement Award
Realizing that an education means more than involvement with academics, SHAW SMITH entered into the affairs of the school wholeheartedly. In a position of leadership from the time he entered North, Shaw demonstrated qualities of perseverance and service. His superiority was evidenced by the number of honors he received. Notwithstanding all this, he excelled scholastically, rating high in his class. He had an inquiring mind which prompted him to delve deep into things.

COLIN SHAW SMITH, JR.

FRANCES ANN BRIDGER

Happy and talented were words that could be used to describe ANN BRIDGER. Taking part in many activities, Ann seemed to enjoy doing extra things rather than just sticking to routine. She excelled in chorus and took the leading role in the musical offered by that group. By singing ballads, folk songs, and popular music, she brought pleasure to many people. Her pleasing personality won many friends for her. Her dependability and enthusiasm were descriptive of her service to the school.

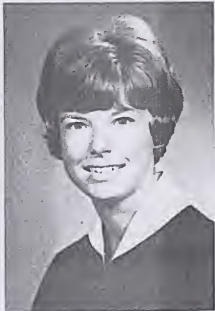

JAMES MICHAEL RAY

Through his outstanding achievements in sports, MIKE RAY won recognition. He was not only a good athlete, but he was also a good sport, exhibiting sportsmanship to a rare degree in all that he did. Mike was popular with his fellow students because of his consideration of others and his friendly nature. His sincerity was evidenced in all that he did. Although he participated in many sports, he found time to assume positions of leadership and service.

KENNETH WAYNE CALDWELL

Excelling in sports, WAYNE CALDWELL, better known to everyone as Buddy, was honored many times. His proficiency as a pitcher and as a hitter was a deciding factor in North's winning a state 4-A championship. Participating in sports, however, did not fill his time completely. He took his place with others in school related organizations. His sincerity and devotion to the school were exemplified in the manner in which he carried out his duties.

FENNA JOHANNA BOON

Extremely energetic, FENNA BOON did well whatever she undertook to do. Interested in serving the school, Fenna was instrumental in reactivating a foreign exchange program at North. She strove hard as chairman of the committee to make the program work. Her interest and devotion, along with that of other students, made the program a successful reality. Fenna worked quietly behind the scenes to bring honor to the school. Her ability to put one at ease made many friends for her.

Not always the dignified Student Council president, Truscott could relax along with the student body. At sock hops he had just as much fun as anyone else.

Student of the Year
Destined for leadership, TRUSCOTT RHODES began to assume leadership duties as soon as he entered North. In his Junior and senior years, he strengthened his position by assuming more responsible tasks and doing them well. He was perceptive to the interests of the student body and responsive to their needs. His work was evidence of his devotion to North. Truscott showed superiority in character and scholarship. His diversified interests were reflected through the many things in which he took part.

DANIEL TRUSCOTT RHODES

Always with a friendly smile, DIANNE BANKER greeted student and teacher alike. Because of her friendly personality, she made many friends. Their confidence in her was shown through the responsible jobs to which she was elected. In a position of leadership, Dianne worked for the improvement of the school. She worked steadily and willingly until she had completed her tasks. Giving freely of her time, Dianne was an asset to the many organizations to which she belonged.

VICTORIA DIANNE BANKER

BARBARA SHERRILL was elected to a position which required much work in nearly every organization of which she was a part. She exhibited dependability and willingness to go beyond what is required in order to make that organization function successfully. Her sincerity was mirrored in all her dealings with her fellow students and with the faculty. As her life touched others, they felt the impact of her dedication and service and were aware of her influence.

BARBARA GAIL SHERRILL

LARRY DOUGLAS HEFNER

An outstanding linebacker for North, LARRY HEFNER received recognition from his teammates, coaches, and sportswriters. Chosen for the All-State football team, he was to play in the East-West game in Greensboro. Characterized by his friendliness, Larry took his place in the activities at North, serving on committees and working for the betterment of the school. His dependability was evidenced in the manner in which he served the school as bus driver for two years.

JOEL CALDWELL McCONNELL, JR.

Known for his creativity, JOEY McCONNELL has used this ability especially for the North Star. He has maintained a high average academically and has displayed a curious mind with a wide range of interests that allow his presence to be noticeably felt in many groups. During his three years at North, Joey has been one of the school's most loyal supporters. His concern for the school and his community is evident in his actions, reflecting a growing awareness of civic responsibilities.

DEVOTION TO SCHOOL, CITIZENSHIP, ABILITY, BRING HONOR TO REBEL

Both the Charlotte Observer and the Charlotte News recognized the skill of basketball player CHRIS PARNELL by placing him with their choice of top players in Mecklenburg County. Chris' contributions to North were shown in a quiet and unassuming way, but his ideas were respected by those who knew him. Seniors expressed their confidence in him by electing him vice-president of the class. Chris also participated in several organizations, where his leadership was recognized.

WILLIAM CHRISTOPHER PARNELL

Chosen as cheerleader in her sophomore year, KAREN BROTHERTON served three years to help keep Rebel spirits high. Her interest in the school and devotion to her job made her outstanding. Her neatness of appearance and her pleasant personality were characteristics that influenced her being selected to represent the school in other ways. With students from other high schools, Karen was North's representative on Belk's Teen Board. In all that she did, academically and otherwise, she did well.

KAREN DIANNE BROTHERTON

Striving to excel in all that he did, CURTIS RHODES was involved with many things related to the school and the community. He showed initiative and perseverance in all of his activities. To better himself, he entered into competition for scholarship and attended leadership schools and workshops to learn how to do a better job. He was serious and hardworking. Displaying superiority in leadership, service, and scholarship, his service to the school was outstanding.

CURTIS NEAL RHODES JR.

SARA ELIZABETH NEIL

With a friendliness that was warm and sincere, SALLY NEIL was one of the leaders at North. As a junior, she publicized the activities of the school in the Mecklenburg Gazette in the column, Rebel Ramblings. Sally's classmates expressed their confidence in her ability by choosing her as a Student Council officer and as an officer in several other organizations. Her work on committees and the awards that she won have reflected her devotion to the school.

Viking Service Award

For her sheer hard work in making any project succeed, MARILYN COOKE was outstanding. She entered into many organizations through which students realized her worth. She was eager to serve and conscientiously carried out her responsibilities well. Her work was known for her creativity. She had a keen desire to make North the most respected school in the system. Her varied interests were developed through her membership in numerous activities, such as the Charlotte Youth Orchestra.

MARILYN ADELE COOKE

Citizen Citizenship Award

Working conscientiously, ALAN KELLY was a leader in the school. Once he undertook an assignment, he carried through, usually with success. Alan was the kind of person that could be depended on at all times. Holding several jobs which carried responsibility, he served earnestly wherever he could. He did not wait for the easy job; he accepted whatever there was to do. Quiet and unassuming, he made many steadfast friends, to whom he was very loyal. Alan was an all-round good student.

GEORGE ALAN KELLY

SARA MARIE WALKER

Known for her quiet, friendly appearance, SALLY WALKER took her responsibilities seriously. Gifted scholastically, she strove to maintain a high average; yet she found time to enter into extra-curricular activities. Her stability quietly reached out to those around her; nonetheless, her seriousness was often shattered by her sense of humor as she worked alongside fellow students. Through many organizations, she served the school well, giving of her time freely.

THOMAS WILLIAM DICKINSON

Showing interest in all phases of school life, TOMMY DICKINSON has proved his worth to the school. Tommy's abilities, scholastic and otherwise, were displayed through a personality that was pleasing to teachers and classmates alike. North has seen him play an outstanding role as a basketball player, and various groups have witnessed his leadership. Although sports took much of Tommy's time, he was never too busy to carry out his other responsibilities well. His sincerity was evident in all that he did.

As manager of the football team, Jim Brown (CENTER) assisted Coach Hayes (RIGHT) and Bobby Benton, trainer, in repairing a player's gear.

Bringing recognition to himself and to the school through his academic achievement, JOHN McFARLAND was chosen for many honors. He proved his excellence in the classroom through vigorous participation, expressing his ideas freely and fluently. Striving to make the best of himself, John's interests were varied; furthermore he pursued whatever interests he had, adding creativity to his work. He participated in sports as well as in the other organizations of the school.

JOHN GORDON McFARLAND

As a talented Rebel, KATHY BARNETTE contributed much to the school. Playing the piano and the organ, Kathy participated in choral programs, as well as in other programs. Her charm and poise were evident when she represented North, vying for the titles of Miss Teenage Charlotte and Miss North Mecklenburg. Entering wholeheartedly into school activities, she kept spirits high as a cheerleader. Dependable and enthusiastic, Kathy held several offices throughout the three years.

KATHERINE DELANE BARNETTE

Accepting a responsibility that tested his dependability and his perseverance, JIM BROWN worked long hours after school as manager of the football and basketball teams. Punctuality and patience were evidenced in his devotion to his job. This did not deter him from entering into other activities, however. He, along with others, had a love for music and often took part in programs, singing ballads and playing the banjo. Jim was active in school organizations, too.

JAMES DUPUY BROWN

Representing North in the Optimist Youth Appreciation Week activities were Sally Neil, Jeanie McDonald, Curtis Smith, and Curtis Rhodes.

Fenna Boon was selected to receive the DAR Citizenship Award.

STUDENTS RECOGNIZED FOR OUTSTANDING TALENTS AND ABILITIES

Reaching in the bowl to select her question in competition for the Miss Teenage Charlotte title, Kathy Barnette displayed both poise and ability to think under pressure.

Curtis Rhodes and Jeanie McDonald, both seniors at North, participated in Youth in Government Day, as well as other activities of the Optimist-sponsored Youth Appreciation Week. With other high school students, they assumed the roles of elected and appointed government leaders. Curtis and Jeanie served as city councilmen.

At a banquet culminating the activities of the week, North was represented by Sally Neil and Curtis Smith. Recognizing young citizens who will be tomorrow's leaders is an annual program of the Optimist Clubs.

Recipient of the DAR Citizenship Award was Fenna Boon. Fenna became involved in school and community affairs. She represented North in the World Peace contest, was inducted into the National Honor Society, and served as a Junior Marshal. In her senior year, she served the school in equally as many ways. She was chosen as a district winner in the Citizenship contest also.

Among the thirty semi-finalists in the Miss Teenage Charlotte Contest was Kathy Barnette. She brought further distinction to North by being selected as a finalist. Semi-finalists were judged on talent, autobiographies, and appearance in formal gowns. From this group, three finalists were selected. They were judged on poise and originality. Kathy was second runner-up.

GIRLS', BOYS' STATE, WILDACRES SERVE TO STRENGTHEN CITIZENSHIP

North's representatives to the Wildacres Human Relations Conference were Truscott Rhodes and Fenna Boon. They found the conference both interesting and stimulating.

North was represented at Girls' and Boy State by five rising senior girls and three rising senior boys. Both were sponsored by the American Legion and its Auxiliary. Boys' State was held at Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem, while Girls' State was held at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

By forming political parties and electing officials for mock cities and counties, the delegates learned about local and state governments and other phases of politics. The week's events were climaxed by election of state officers.

Both boys and girls enjoyed the well-planned recreation programs offered at each college. They participated in a number of phases of the program and profited by their experiences there.

This year North was represented at the Wildacres Human Relations Conference by Truscott Rhodes and Fenna Boon. Held at Little Switzerland, the conference was headed by college students and included a full week of meetings. Delegates were selected by the faculty on the basis of the student's qualities of leadership and citizenship.

PROM INCLUDES SUPPER, DANCE, LATE PARTIES FOR MANY REBELS

With the theme, "The Stork Club," members of the junior class under the leadership of Mrs. Ruby Klutz began soon after the beginning of the second semester to plan for the Junior-Senior Prom. This was a highlight of the year for these students.

Since the administration frowned on students raising money for school activities, both classes paid admission to the dance. It was, however, the responsibility of the juniors to make all the preparations for honoring members of the senior class.

Walls of the National Guard Armory were lined with a night-time scene of a city skyline. Streamers, simulating a starry sky, were strung overhead. Music for the formally attired guests was provided by Jay Smith and his orchestra.

Refreshments of punch, cookies, and hors d'oeuvres were served by a group of sophomore girls from the home economics classes.

While some of the guests danced, others sat at tables chatting or gathered around the punch bowl or had their pictures made. Many had plans for late activities after the Junior-Senior. It was a gala night and one not soon to be forgotten.

Cathy Hodge and her date, Danny Hudson, were among the couples attending the prom.

Taking advantage of the music were chaperones Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Henderson.

Garry MacClain and Ruby Caldwell enjoyed the music provided by Jay Smith and his orchestra.

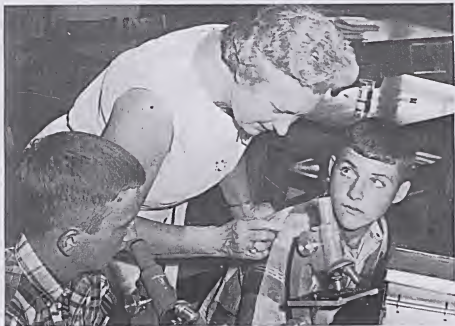

EMPHASIS ON INDIVIDUALITY IN ACADEMICS

Pursuit of knowledge meant hard work and cooperation between students and faculty. When classes began sixteen years ago a small teacher-student ratio existed. Through continuing additions to faculty and the physical plant, North can proudly say that an informal relationship between student and teacher still exists.

To compensate for the variety of students, North put new ideas into effect. From previous records and teacher evaluation, each student was rated either advanced, regular, or basic. Through this and other programs, North has maintained quality in academics.

Miss Umberger watched closely as Joey McConnell pinned a corsage on her at the National Honor Society induction ceremony.

Dale Rogers guarded against mistakes in his drawing that he did for mechanical drawing class.

COMBINED EFFORTS OF STUDENTS, TEACHERS MAKE ACADEMIC YEAR

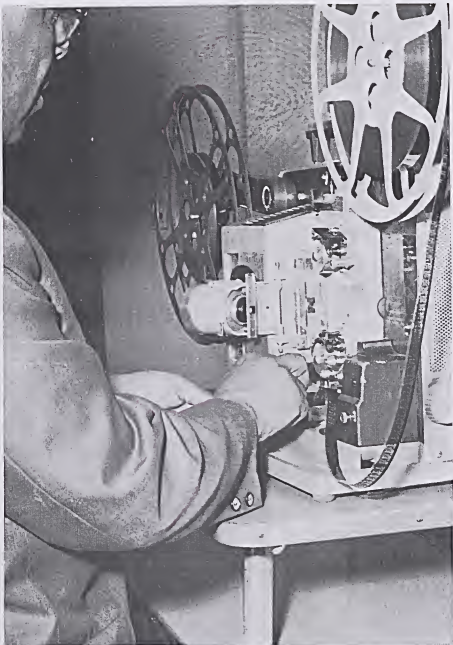

Mr. W. L. Cochrane and his son, William, were interested mainly in food at North's sixteenth birthday party, sponsored by the PTA. Others participating in the activities were Mrs. Henrietta Barnette, Mrs. Eleanor Puckett, Dr. H. L. Seay, and Dr. John Hansil.

Joe Stinson put the finishing touches on his project in the shop.

Fun has always been an important part of the total life at North. Mr. Gabriel did his part by participating in the Hi-Jinks sponsored by the National Honor Society.

As the school has grown, its facilities have also. Making use of the audio-visual aids, Mr. Hill of the Science Department gives his class supplementary material.

Preceding the Symposium activities, a banquet was held. Enjoying the food were Mr. Bitt Flowers, Miss Rigney, Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Puckett.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATED IN MANY DIFFERENT ACTIVITIES OF CLASSES

Phys ed assistant, Jerry Beard, and friends, David Henderson and Mike Anderson, comment on Mr. Bowers' 6th period physical education class.

Typing was offered to students interested in it for various reasons. Sue Carpenter concentrated on completing her paper with a minimum of mistakes.

Mrs. Daggy answers a question for Donna Sharpe about her homework between class periods.

While studying viruses in biology class, Betty Moore made a virus cake to show the action of a virus upon a cell.

REBEL CURRICULUM ENCOURAGES EXPLORATION

North's sixteenth year was marked by a wide range of courses, and an intensive level of study. In many classes, Rebels were given basic facts and encouraged to formulate their own opinions. This prepared them for years of decision-making in the future. When the doors to learning were opened, Rebels found it their place to follow through. And following through they did, entering discussions with open minds and seeking out and exploring new fields. Rebels went the "extra mile" with enthusiasm.

EXPRESSION, DEVELOPMENT OF CREATIVE TALENT STRESSED IN ENGLISH

Stressing individual development, greater participation on the part of the student was encouraged in the English Department. On the sophomore level, there was a general introduction to many types of literature, (and the inevitable Silas Marner), as well as a study of basic English grammar. In the junior year, American literature and the development of communication skills were stressed. English literature, with an emphasis on Shakespeare, was the fare of the senior class.

Expression of the student's creativity was shown through dramatics, journalism, and creative writing. Drama students read, interpreted, and produced plays. Journalism students learned factual writing, while the creative writing classes studied and wrote to develop their own talents.

Miss Betsy Nichols gave instructions to her English class.

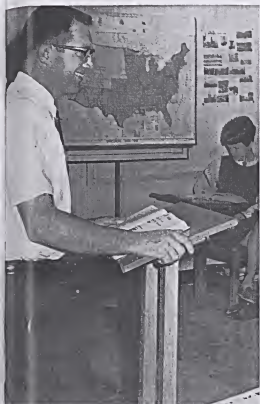

Roger Ward, a Richardson Scholar from England, spoke to Mrs. Covington's fifth period class about life in England. Roger is a student at Davidson College.

Curtis Smith and Billy Withers made life in New England more realistic. In an English class they presented a skit about Oliver Wendell Holmes.

SOCIAL STUDIES BUILD STUDENTS' UNDERSTANDING OF MODERN WORLD

Mr. Glendenning lectured in his United States history class as Linda Hopkins followed along in her book.

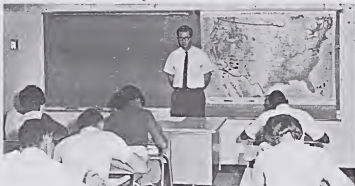

All students were required to take world history and United States history. These two courses offered a basic understanding of our history. World geography was also offered as an elective.

Through the study of world history, students learned the story of civilization. These civilizations were studied in the light of the effect they have placed on our way of life. It gave, also, a history of present world situations.

Much attention was given current events in the study of United States history. Studied in depth was the political and economic situation. Much time was given to the manner in which America obtained its freedom and reached its place of world leadership.

World geography classes consisted of lectures, guest speakers from foreign lands, and map work.

Mr. Smith waited patiently as his students checked the answer to a question.

Discussing current events in world history class were Mr. Ratteree, Judy Goodrum, Pat Eagle, and Curtis Brandon.

Larry Ward received constructive criticism from Miss Rigney, as Mark Bradford listened.

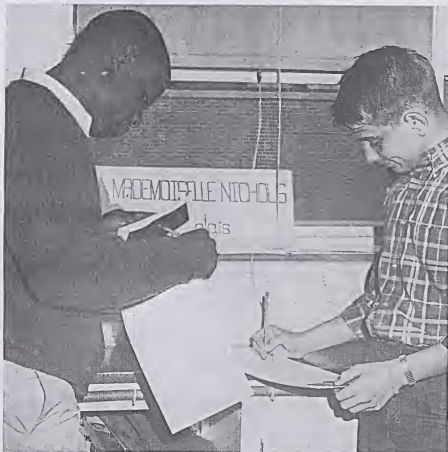

FOREIGN LANGUAGE STUDY SUPPLEMENTED BY TAPE RECORDING, LAB

Highlighted by the establishment of advanced classes in French and Latin, the foreign language department encompasses three languages — French, Spanish, and Latin. Aiding both the French and Spanish classes in audio-lingual approaches, the language lab was supplemented by tape recordings.

Not only do the language students learn about the language, but through a series of films, magazines, and works of literature, they seek to increase their knowledge of the culture and customs of the people.

Being able to comprehend and speak the language was an important part of the language being studied. Eddie Price listened to a French tape which provided a drill in the language.

Preparing for French Week, Odell Burton and George Harry made signs to be placed on the classroom doors.

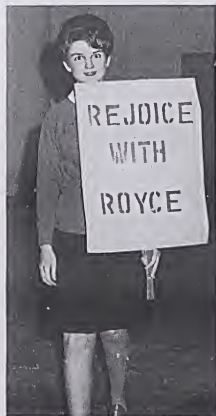

Miss Wilson often helped students to increase their knowledge. Here she stressed a point in the book as Sandra Chitwood listened to a French tape.

Noi Tongma, North's student from Thailand, worked along with another student, Rebecca Auten, carrying out a project in art class.

STUDENTS OFFERED CHANCE FOR SELF-EXPRESSION THROUGH FINE ARTS

"Where Is the Mayor?" was the title of the musical staged by the chorus classes. Pat Alexander paraded with a poster proclaiming her choice for the office.

Diversification from basic subjects was possible through the fine arts curriculum. Students were offered many chances for self-expression through these courses in music and art.

Included in the music curriculum were band, chorus, and orchestra. Chorus was divided into several classes, with one special performing group, the Rebel Singers. Some of the band members formed the Notes, also a performing group.

Art classes offered students an opportunity to work in many ways to achieve success and satisfaction. Some talented students won recognition with their work.

Judy Long enjoyed her art work and achieved much success with the products of talent.

MATH COURSES PREPARE STUDENTS FOR COMPUTERIZED WORLD

Mathematics took on a new look this year for all those students who chose to take business mathematics or a college preparatory course. As math has increased in importance in daily living, so the department at North has increased its coverage.

Sophomores were usually introduced to high school math in geometry classes. Geometry served to help develop a student's reasoning power.

Juniors struggled either with Algebra II, algebra-trigonometry or the business math course. Theirs was a time of preparation for the logic that many would be faced with as Seniors.

Seniors were involved with functions and matrix algebra or trigonometry, depending on courses taken previously.

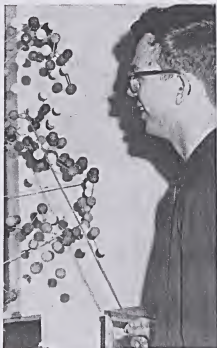

Most math teachers were always ready to help their students. Alan Lemmond received some individual help in geometry from Mr. Edwards.

Getting back test papers was often not fun for the students. Harold Darnell had just received his geometry test from Mr. Holden. He seemed puzzled at the results.

Concentration and attention, as evident on the faces of Jimmy Dunn, Ping Voss, and Jack Stutts, were required of math students. However, Bill Strong managed to sneak in a good yawn.

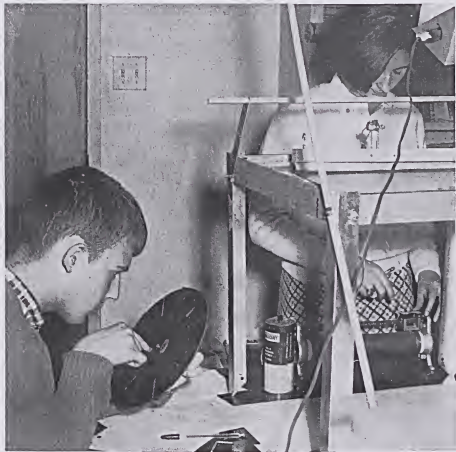

John McFarland examined a model representing the atoms and their arrangement in a DNA molecule.

Mr. Clayton watched as Mr. Parnell examined a fruit fly under the microscope. This was a part of the science program presented by the PTA and the science department.

IMPORTANCE OF SCIENCE IS STRESSED DESPITE LACK OF FACILITIES

Bill Strong studied wave motion using a stroboscope and a ripple tank. Sally Neil adjusted the motor.

Biology I was required for most sophomores. This science involves the study of basic life processes in various forms of life. For students who completed Biology I, chemistry was offered. Students taking that course were concerned with the elemental and atomic structures of substances.

Biology II and physics were available to those desiring to continue their study of science. Physics forces, such as energy, and their effects were studied in physics. Biology II was concerned largely with the chemical aspects of biology.

In February, science exhibits were prepared by the various classes to show the work that they were currently doing. Parents were invited to come and see the results of the student exploration and experimentation.

BUSINESS, VOCATIONAL COURSES PREPARE STUDENTS FOR FUTURE

Jerry Steele and Tony Stroud cut their project on the table saw in the shop.

Vocational courses were offered to teach students skills which would prove beneficial to them.

Distributive Education offered students the opportunity of on-the-job experience. Students attended classes and in the afternoon they worked, earning a grade as well as money.

Boys wishing to go into engineering or to develop a hobby found mechanical drawing courses useful and creative. They learned basic methods for reading and preparing scale-model drawings and blueprints. Agriculture students learned about methods of farming and related careers.

Students preparing for a commercial career after high school found numerous aids in the curriculum. Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and general office practice provided opportunities to acquire the skills needed for positions in the business world. Dictaphones, adding machines, and other office equipment were available for students to operate.

Mr. Kollar explains the principle of marketing to Larry Gahagen, Linda Mullis, and Phil Puckett during a daily session.

SOPHOMORES TAKE FITNESS TEST, BEHIND-THE-WHEEL TRAINING

Mr. Bowers refereed a basketball game in his class as Tecky Hicks, Philip Edwards, and Ronald Weston waited for the play to continue.

Mr. Barnhardt prepared to take Jerry McAuley and Eddie Burleson for driving instructions.

Frank Cobb, Jimmy Bell, and Ralph Ferrell battled for the rebound, but Bobby Lindley came up with it.

All sophomores taking physical education were given a physical fitness test and graded on a percent basis. Top scores were posted as students strove to improve with each test.

Physical education, however, taught the basic rules of many sports, including basketball, field hockey, and track. Girls were given a chance for self-expression when they studied modern dance.

For six weeks, sophomores left the classes in physical education for classroom instruction in driver education. After completion of this, students were given behind-the-wheel instruction. Students wishing to take advantage of lower insurance rates as well as the sophomores, took the course in the afternoon or on Saturday.

Mr. William Lee, North's guidance counselor, was kept busy as many students made appointments with him to discuss their problems or to get information.

LIBRARY, GUIDANCE OFFICE OFFER ACADEMIC, PERSONAL AID

By the hundreds the books came into the library in an effort to bring North's library up to higher standards. This meant that the librarian, Miss Sandra Umberger, was literally swamped with work trying to get them on the shelf.

Term papers, research projects, and other assignments kept students rushing to the library in steady streams. Here they found an ever increasing number of books and other materials to help them with their work.

In addition to about 7000 books, filmstrips, recordings, periodicals, and a vertical file were made available to students. Library assistants helped operate projectors, record players, and other equipment. Never before had so many things been available to students or teachers.

Under the direction of a new counselor, Mr. William Lee, the guidance Department attempted to reach more students on a more individual basis. Students were always encouraged to bring their personal problems to the counselor.

As an aid to college-bound students, the PSAT, College Boards, the American College Test, and the National Merit Exam were given. Information on colleges and scholarships was provided, and students were aided in making plans for the future.

ADMINISTRATION STRIVES FOR REWARDING YEAR

Vitaly important to the school, the administration endeavored to make 1967 a rewarding year. Led by the principal, the enlarged teaching staff had the responsibility of supervising and directing one thousand three hundred twenty-four students. Sixteen years ago North was proud to have eighteen members in its faculty. Trying to keep up with the growing student body, the faculty has now grown to sixty-five. During these years, the county and city administrations have been consolidated. This resulted in better teaching and learning facilities.

Displaying perfect form, Mr. Hough showed Sandy Lowrance and Mike Ray how the "better" players do it.

MR. WILLIAM A. HOUGH, North's principal since 1955, was graduated from Wake Forest with degrees in science and social studies. He also studied administrative education at U.N.C.

Mr. Hough has earned the respect of everyone at North by showing interest in all student and teacher activities. He has always been understanding with everyone's problems and his efforts to better the school have earned him the admiration of many.

COUNTY, LOCAL ADMINISTRATIONS WORK TO OVERCOME PROBLEMS

Many different levels are included in the school administration. At the head of the entire school system was DR. CRAIG PHILLIPS, superintendent, and the county Board of Education.

On this group falls the responsibility of making school policy, directing progress, and determining which course each school will follow. This was also the group that had to contend with all the problems of running a school system, complete with integration for the first time, new facilities, overcrowding, a teacher shortage, and scores of other problems. All of these were handled with a maximum of efficiency.

With the best interest of every student as an incentive, Dr. Phillips filled his fifth year with the Charlotte-Mecklenburg system with an effort to understand every side of a problem and make a decision satisfactory to all.

DR. CRAIG PHILLIPS, who came to Charlotte from Winston-Salem, is superintendent of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools.

After graduating from U.N.C. with a BA in math and history, he earned his Master's Degree and Doctorate in Education there.

Dr. Phillips came to assume his duties in 1962. With various school experiences behind him as a coach, teacher, and principal, Dr. Phillips undertook the many problems of education.

A graduate of Catawba College, DR. WILLIAM SELF came to Charlotte in 1962. He was a coach, teacher, assistant principal, elementary principal, and assistant superintendent in the Winston-Salem school systems from 1946 to 1962. He is now assistant superintendent of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg schools. Helping around the house and fishing are Dr. Self's hobbies.

MR. HOUGH DAY MARKED TIME FOR STUDENTS TO EXPRESS GRATITUDE

Dr. D. Grier Martin, President of Davidson College, spoke in tribute to Mr. Hough on a day selected to honor him.

Margaret Whitlow pinned a carnation on the surprised Mr. Hough at the start of the appreciation assembly.

One of many days to be remembered by Rebels was the day Mr. W. J. Hough was honored by the student body. This show of appreciation sponsored by the Student Council was a complete surprise to the astonished Mr. Hough as he was escorted into the assembly by Dr. John Hansil, Principal of Alexander Junior High School. The Student Council felt that Mr. Hough was very deserving of this special recognition. Mr. Hough was respected and admired by all. Student Council officers, Edd Beam, Truscott Rhodes, Margaret Whitlow, and Eddie Hilton spoke briefly in tribute to Mr. Hough. Also speaking in behalf of Mr. Hough were Jack Stutts, Diane Neil, Mr. Roy Fortner from Huntersville Moto Company, Dr. D. Grier Martin, President of Davidson College, and Mrs. Estelle Mott, Chairman of North English department. "Mr. Hough Day" was a result of deep appreciation for our principal.

Standing as Mr. Hough received an ovation from the student body were Mr. Roy Fortner, Mrs. Estelle Mott, Eddie Hilton, and Eddy Beam.

Mr. Hurd lends a sympathetic ear as Barbara Park explains her reason for wanting to leave early.

MR. BRYCE HURD is a graduate of Lees-McRae, Elon and Appalachian State Teachers College. He earned both his AB and MA degrees.

Not only was Mr. Hurd assistant principal, but he was also athletic director. As assistant principal, Mr. Hurd relieved the principal of many duties and substituted for the principal when he was called away. Helping with registration and scheduling were also the duties of the assistant principal.

Having graduated from Johnson C. Smith University with a BS degree, MR. ISAAC T. GRAHAM received his MA degree from New York University. As assistant principal, his duties include responsibility for bus transportation, cafeteria supervision, and students' cutting class. Mr. Graham has a strong desire to help students and parents with problems that may affect their futures.

Serving the school as treasurer, handling reports and checking the mail were the responsibilities of MRS. LOUELLA HEFNER. She was also responsible for getting most of the records into the administrative office on time.

Typing the absentee list and keeping up with absentee cards were only a few of the duties that kept MRS. VIRGINIA WALLACE, one of two office secretaries, busy. Mrs. Wallace acted as receptionist and stenographer. Sports, especially basketball, and fishing are enjoyed by Mrs. Wallace.

Typing book orders and keeping library records in order were the jobs of Mrs. Styers.

SECRETARIES HANDLE DUTIES EFFICIENTLY, SERVE SCHOOL MANY WAYS

MRS. MARIAN BEARD, secretary for the Guidance Department, was occupied most of the time checking records, sending out transcripts, and answering numerous questions.

Working to keep all the library records in good order was MRS. ANNIE MAE STYERS. She was in charge of secretarial duties in the library. Cataloguing books and typing book orders were some of her many duties.

FACULTY SPONSORS CLUBS, EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

During the summer, she attended a work camp in Costa Rica sponsored by the First Methodist Church in Hickory. Her main interests include keeping scrapbooks, reading, tennis, cooking, and swimming.

Driver education is taught here by MR. RICHARD CANSLER during both summer months and the regular school year. He attended Lenoir Rhyne and ASTC where he received his BS degree. He is married and has a son, Richard Jr. Hunting is Mr. Cansler's main interest.

North's faculty a very vital part of the school's success, worked with students for higher learning. Aside from the expected task of presenting basic facts in classroom work, many teachers extended their share of the learning process to extra-curricular activities. Each of the numerous clubs at North was sponsored by one or more faculty members, as were some of the Student Council committees. Most teachers were usually willing to stay after school to help students with special projects and make-up work, or to explain something not completely understood.

*Best Wishes!

Deaton, Mrs. Fannie Taylor, Mrs. H. Chapman, and Mrs. Frances Beard.

CAFETERIA STAFF DAILY SERVES REBELS NOURISHING, BALANCED MEA

For the cafeteria staff, the problem of planning and preparing well-balanced meals began early in the morning and did not end until afternoon. Each day, meals which were both nourishing and appetizing were made available to over 1300 famished Rebels.

To be ready for the waves of students which faced them during the three lunch periods every day demanded work and punctuality. Many times they worked far more than their job actually required. They were called on when there were banquets and other functions to be held in the cafeteria, and they served willingly.

Mrs. Frances Beard was the manager of the cafeteria. Her greatest responsibility was seeing that everything was in readiness when the bells rang for lunch periods. Not only was the food ready to be served on time each day, but there was also a smile for everyone as she greeted them in the lunchroom.

Making pies was a big job when school might want a serving. Each of Mrs. Elsie Deaton's assignments fix appetizing desserts.

JANITORIAL STAFF, CUSTODIANS HAVE MANY DUTIES, RESPONSIBILITIES

Supervising the janitorial staff was Mr. Hugh Deaton, the custodian. His many duties included checking to see that the school was opened every morning, checking the furnace, and locking the school in the afternoons. His day began quite early and ended late.

North's janitors and maids aided in keeping the school clean by dry-mopping the halls after each change of class and also after school. Other duties included waxing the floors, mowing the grass, and cleaning the classrooms daily.

Serving as custodian, Mr. Hugh Deaton made sure the school was kept warm and the doors were opened and closed each day.

Serving on the janitorial staff were: (FRONT ROW): Sudie Cornelius, Theodore Cornelius. (BACK ROW): Charles Springs, and Eugene Houston.

COVETED HONORS EARNED BY WORTHY STUDENTS

During the past sixteen years, many students at North have received honors. This year was no exception. Through hard work and determination, students gained recognition for themselves and North. Earning these academic awards was not easy. Students earned them by putting forth more than was required by the teachers. This extra bit of work meant all the difference. In addition to gaining knowledge and honors, these students have gained success. They have excelled in the work.

DEDICATION, RESPONSIBILITY CHARACTERIZE SCHOLASTIC LEADERS

Generally, the basic purpose of a school is the education of the mind. This sixteenth year at North was a time of hard work and long hours, and when the final grades were out the happiest students were those who had done their best. Dedication and a strong sense of responsibility were the qualities necessary for the making of a scholar. The Viking honors here the top five scholastic leaders in each class for the year 1967.

REBELS ATTEND GOVERNOR'S SCHOOL, COMPETE FOR SCHOLARSHIP

John McFarland was chosen from North for the Governor's School held in Winston-Salem.

North's Morehead Scholarship nominees were Truscott Rhodes, Shaw Smith, and Joey McConnell.

Each year three boys are nominated by a committee of teachers to compete for the Morehead Scholarship. These boys must be of high character and possess leadership qualities. They also must have participated in school activities and have an outstanding scholastic average. This year, Shaw Smith represented North in the finals of the competition. Final choices were to be made in March.

The Governor's School of North Carolina enrolls about four-hundred talented students for a seven week term each summer. These students, who excel artistically or academically, take instruction on the subject in which they do best.

This year, North's John McFarland attended the Governor's School from June 20 to August 5, studying Latin.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS WIN AWARDS, VIE FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Each year instructors in the business department chose an outstanding senior in the fields of business education to receive the American Management Society Award. This award is based on future potential as a successful employee in the business world, attitude taken towards the necessary work, participation in commercial activities, choice of courses, and future plans for a career in business. The recipient of this award is also eligible to compete for a $250 business scholarship given to two seniors in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system.

Pam Burgess received this year's AMS award.

Intellectual ability was the main characteristic involved in choosing semi-finalists for the National Merit Scholarship program. Other qualities also helped determine these students, such as ambition, energy, and resourcefulness. The students were selected on a nationwide basis. The program was designed to increase financial assistance for able students. From North, John McFarland, Steve White, and Alice Ratliff were selected as semi-finalists. Bill Strong received honorable mention, having taken the exam in Michigan.

John McFarland, Alice Ratliff, and Bill Strong made high scores on the National Merit Scholarship Examination.

STUDENTS RECOGNIZED FOR ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE, ABILITY AS LEADERS

Martha Johnston was chosen to spend the summer in Europe as an exchange student.

This year, North Mecklenburg became affiliated with the Charlotte Exchange Program for the first time. Members of the Junior Class were eligible as exchange students during the summer if they had had at least two years of any foreign language. These students were selected for their scholastic ability. The latter qualification was extremely important because their success in the program depended on their being able to adapt themselves to situations in foreign lands.

Each spring the ten juniors having the highest scholastic average are chosen as Junior Marshals. This honor carries with it the responsibility of distributing programs and ushering at Commencement exercises. These ten, the two with the highest averages were named Chief Marshals. Steve White and Janette Davis, chosen as Chief Marshals, had the privilege of leading the procession of seniors at both the Baccalaureate and Graduation exercises.

Curtis Smith was also chosen to visit Europe.

Two students from North Mecklenburg were chosen by the Charlotte Committee to spend the summer abroad. Martha Johnston is going to the Netherlands and live with a Dutch family, while Curtis Smith is going to Sweden to find out about life in Scandinavia.

NORTH STUDENTS EARN TOP HONORS IN ART, DEMOCRACY COMPETITIONS

Noi Tongma, an enthusiastic artist, worked on one of the many projects she completed during the year.

Noi's friendly manner soon won her many friends, even though language was a barrier at first. Susan Davis and Noi talked one day after lunch.

Sponsored by the VFW and Broadcasters of America, the "I Speak for Democracy" contest is an annual event. Students express their views on democracy and are judged on content, originality, and delivery.

Donna Campbell and Torrance Banks represented North in the county-wide contest. Torrance won first place there and went on to take top honors in the district competition.

Noi Tongma of Thailand, came to live with her American pen pal, Carol Hudson, a Ranson Junior High student. An art enthusiast, she was North's only recipient of a Gold Key in the National Scholastic Art Exhibit. Both Civinettes and the Honor Society welcomed Noi, a member of the junior class, as an honorary member of their respective clubs.

Torrance Banks and Donna Campbell were successful in the "I Speak for Democracy" contest. Donna was runner-up and Torrance went all the way to the state contest.

SENIORS RECOGNIZED FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE, ACCOMPLISHMENT

Diane Neil

Diane Neil received the CIVITAN CITIZENSHIP AWARD recognizing her outstanding contribution to North through participation in extra-curricular activities and academic achievement. CLASSES FOLLOW TRADITION OF SIXTEEN YEARS

In the fall of 1966, 1324 students entered North Mecklenburg, each determined in his own way to make this sixteenth year memorable. These students carried on the traditions, activities, and aims that began in 1951 when 450 teenagers started life as Rebels in the building that has become our school. This year, as in years past, seniors looked forward to graduation, Juniors planned their first prom, and sophomores adjusted to life in a new school. Thus we became sixteen.

Elected in the spring of their junior year, Senior class officers started early to outline the activities of the class. President of the class was Shaw Smith; vice-president, Chris Parnell; secretary, Diane Banker; and treasurer, Fenna Boon.

AWARENESS OF LAST YEAR BRINGS EXCITEMENT, WORK, NOSTALGIA

Cramming for exams, cruising Shoney's after a game, dragging sleepily to school on Monday morning, and marching into assembly while underclassmen stood and sang the Alma Mater, all combined to make the 1966-67 senior's final year a memorable one. At first it was hard to realize that the senior year had finally come. However, the arrival of senior rings brought on a feeling of excitement and seniority.

As seniors helped to build North into the school they wanted to remember, mature young adults emerged from the senior class. Many memorable friendships were made and numerous events took place during this year, which was packed with some play, much work, and great emotional strain. Some were hesitant, but most were anxious for that first blast-off into the future.

Of course it was not all happiness and glory; this year also brought with it worry and apprehension. Numerous plans had to be made. College Boards and applications to the colleges of their choices were completed early in the year by most students. Then the worrying began. Whether or not they be accepted was the question uppermost in the minds of most seniors.

Meanwhile, in preparation for college, some students completed more advanced courses, while others prepared to take their places in the business world.

Commencement marked the closing of their high school activities. As they departed from North, the class of '67 knew the past few years of joys and sorrows would never be forgotten.

Ever interested in the activities of the seniors was Mrs. Estelle Mott, senior class adviser. Her willingness to help when needed and her thoughtful advice to the class officers helped make the year a success.

SENIORS REALIZE TIME HAS COME FOR STUDYING, THOUGHTFUL PLANNING

Realizing the time had come when there could be no question about work being done brought many seniors into the library for study. Now, no one could take a chance with grades; serious study must be done. Tommy Sherrill was one who "hit the books" as never before.

N. C. EMPLOYMENT OFFICE GIVES SENIORS DEXTERITY TESTS

Getting a job is important to seniors, especially those who are ending their formal education with graduation from high school. Help is given through the employment bureau. Seniors take manual dexterity tests, as well as other tests, which help the employer to find the right person for a particular job. Billy Cox and Dennis Groce found it fun to push the little pegs around.

Nothing creates more interest and excitement than the arrival of rings. Seniors began their questioning on the day school began, and did not let up until the rings came. Pride and joy were evident when each senior took a good look at his ring for the first time. Jerry Roberts and Phil Puckett were engrossed in trying on their rings.

MAKING NORTH FIRST IN SPIRIT, SERVICE IMPORTANT TO MANY SENIORS

Each month the student body chooses a club to be recognized for its contribution to the school. Homeroom nominations are turned in to a committee and the final selection is made by the committee. Since the Booster Club is an active one, it is selected each year as Club of the Month. Given by the Student Council president, Truscott Rhodes, the award was received this year by Rutledge Withers, co-chairman of the Booster Club.

MANY SENIORS FIND ELECTIVES TIME CONSUMING, DEMANDING, ENJOYABLE

After concentrated study in academic subjects, many students find it relaxing to take part in dramatics or chorus. Many, therefore, choose these subjects as electives, although these classes require much of their time and energy. Johnny Brumley and Debbie Verble had roles in "The Pot Boiler," one of a series of presentations by the drama classes.

Ann Bridger found pleasure in chorus class and taking part in special programs.

Elected in the spring, Junior Class officers began their work early. Nancy Cochrane was secretary of the class; Jerry Moore, president; Glenn Morris, vice-president; and Roger Sherrill, treasurer.

Once again Miss Margaret Smith took over the duties as adviser of the juniors. Plans were made for a steering committee to take over most of the responsibility of the prom, but Miss Smith was there for advice.

JUNIOR CLASS LOOKS AHEAD TOWARD NEW YEAR

For the juniors a new year had begun. They were older now and much more experienced; they had passed from "lowly" sophomores to that stage where they felt just as important as seniors.

Long-anticipated events had finally become realities. Juniors planned the Junior-Senior, and they also took the PSAT. In the spring Juniors who were planning to enter college took College Boards. Scores were looked forward to with fear.

Boys were able to participate in varsity sports, while the girls were active in GAA.

Since they were now eligible for membership in many clubs, juniors awaited the anxious moments when new members were inducted. Important to all of them in the spring was being measured for rings which would not be delivered until their senior year.

At the end of the year, the ten juniors having the highest scholastic average were chosen to serve as Junior Marshals.

Looking back over their Junior year, most of the members of the Junior Class had had an active year,

REBELS TAKE PLEASURE IN BEATING WILDCAT EFFIGY HUNG AT CAFETE

When the Booster Club put a Garinger Wildcat effigy in the entrance to the student lounge, students from all classes stopped to admire it and knock it around. Among those were David Walker and Jerry Beard.

Early in the school year Sophomores elected class officers. Elected were Pam McCall, treasurer; Jane Seay, secretary; Donna Campbell, vice-president; and Torrance Banks, president.

SOPHOMORES BECOME TRUE REBELS WITH FEAR, HIGH HOPES, HAPPINESS

Beginning their first year at North, Sophomores discovered themselves on a new adventure. Junior high was behind, and new things were at hand. There were a great many new things to which adjustments had to be made. Just being Rebels in itself was difficult at first.

There were some things, however, which took the edge off the new. One was meeting old friends and finding that every Sophomore was experiencing the same problems.

Another was learning that they were accepted by the upperclassmen and that Sophomores were a real part of North.

Members of the class found they were included in all the activities of the school. At Orientation they learned what the clubs were and that they were eligible for most of them. They could also go out for any of the athletic teams and participate in all activities.

Sophomores became true Rebels.

An interested adviser is always an asset to any class. The Sophomore class adviser was Mrs. Helen Hart, who took time to listen and to aid the class officers in their plans.

VIKING PUBLICATION SUPPORTED BY COMMUNITY

North Mecklenburg's success was as strong as her support. A large amount of this support lay in the hands of the merchants, businessmen, and friends of North who, through advertisements, made the publication of the Viking possible.

The Rebels owe a great debt of gratitude to these people for their unending encouragement and cooperation. We hope that their faith in us will be as strong in the next sixteen years as it has been in the past.

REBS END SIXTEENTH YEAR: CONTINUE TO GROW

Rebels have turned sixteen. With the last report cards, graduation, and final good-byes, another year has ended — the year North was sixteen. Although North will continue to grow, there will never be another year just like this one. The students, teachers, and even the events that have made 1967 distinct will never come together again.

New ideas have been tried, some will continue while others will be replaced by better ones. In addition to new ideas, new teachers and students became a part of this year. A football stadium which Rebels had dreamed about was finally begun. All of these combined to make North's sixteenth year unique.
